Thone Will Run For Governor

..Announcement Slated Next Month

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Republican State Chairman Charles Thone of Lincoln will be a candidate for the 1962 GOP gubernatorial nomination, The Star learned Friday.

Thone will file as a candidate whether Fred Seaton seeks the nomination or not, informed sources said.

CHARLES THONE

He is expected to announce his decision early next month.

Questioned about the matter, Thone said only that he "will have an announcement soon."

Meanwhile, Seaton said that he will not reach a decision on his possible entry into the race until next week at the earliest.

The former secretary of the interior had hoped to announce his plans this week.

Seaton, a Hastings publisher, is "seriously considering" entering the fray.

Former Gov. Victor Anderson of Lincoln has also indicated interest in the race.

Vigorous Campaign

Thone, 37-year-old Lincoln attorney, is expected to conduct a vigorous personal campaign throughout the state.

In the past he has plugged hard for a constitutional convention, a reconsideration of the state's basic tax structure and a partisan legislature.

He has been engaged in verbal warfare with Democratic Gov. Frank Morrison frequently in the past several months, particularly over state purchasing practices.

Party Chairman

Thone has served as party chairman for the last 27 months.

Before that, he was administrative assistant to Sen. Roman Hruska from 1955 to 1959.

He previously served in state government as an assistant attorney general and deputy secretary of state. He is also a former assistant U.S. attorney for Nebraska.

Thone is a native of Hartington, graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Law and an Army veteran.

McGee Asks Study Of Common Market

By DON WALTON

SEN. McGEE . . . tariffs need a new look.

Sen. Gale McGee of Wyoming Friday urged the U.S. to consider the possibility of participating in Western Europe's Common Market.

In many ways, the Lincoln native declared, "this would be real smart."

But, the Democrat noted, "we're just talking through our hats if we think this will happen soon."

McGee, former college history professor who was elected to the Senate in 1958, was in Lincoln to address the Nebraska State Education Assn. convention.

In an interview with The Star, he discussed possible alternatives to the reciprocal trade agreements act which expires next year.

"We need to take a larger new look . . . an entirely new approach to questions of tariff," McGee suggested.

One alternative, he declared, would be to "arrive at some kind of sliding scale formula" which encompassed national interests, world market variables and federal aid for economically displaced segments.

Our present tariff policy, McGee said, is "a has-been."

On other matters, the 46-year-old former teacher pointed to education and aid-to-the-aged as two major domestic issues facing the next Congress.

Having returned from Berlin 9 days ago, the senator offered these impressions of the tense capital:

—the U.S. has "finally convinced the German people that we indeed stand firm and united on Berlin."

—there now exists "a surprisingly widespread acceptance among West Berliners of the prospect of living with a divded Germany for a long time to come."

—the wall is to Berlin only an emotional symbol "for they had a wall before, only they couldn't see it."

The senator tabbed the recent congressional session as "one of the most productive in history," having enacted 27 major pieces of legislation.

McGee is a graduate of Norfolk High School and Wayne State Teachers College. He formerly taught school in Crofton, Kearney and Lincoln.

—AID TO SPACE RACE—

Saturn's 1st Trip Perfect

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—The monstrous Saturn rocket thundered through a perfect maiden flight Friday and the United States at last had the firepower needed to race Russia to the moon.

With an unearthly scream of its 8 engines, the world's mightiest known booster rode 1.3 million pounds of thrust to an altitude of 95 miles then dived back as planned to sink to the bottom of the Atlantic 200 miles down range.

President Kennedy, who has pledged that Americans will walk on the moon in this decade, was among those who watched the awesome blastoff of the 162-foot long rocket on television. He had no immediate comment.

Still Trailing

Despite the complete success of the initial flight, Saturn will not soon erase the Russian lead over the United States in booster power. Under the present schedule, it will be at least 3 years before Saturn is ready to hurl a 3-man Apollo spacecraft into orbit around the earth.

And it will be 1966 before the rocket, which then will have a thrust of 3 to 4 million pounds, will be able to propel Apollo into orbit around the moon.

Friday's performance does not mean that this program can be accelerated, scientists said. It is being held up by development of the second stage, which will not be ready until 1963.

Improvement

However, Dr. Wernher Von Braun, the German Scientific ace who was instrumental in building Saturn, said information obtained Friday will bring improvement of the rocket before the next flight next March.

To plug the gap until Saturn is ready, the Atlas will be mated with a hydrogen-powered second stage next year. This booster, to be called Centaur, will match the weight lifting power of Russian vehicles and will be able to drop exploratory instruments on the moon to prepare the way for manned landings.

Nova, which is scheduled to succeed Saturn in the program, will be used to place men on the moon with its 20-million-pound thrust. This could come as early as 1967, well before the decade's end.

Only 2 Holds

Only two holds while rocketeers waited for clouds to clear away kept the Saturn from blasting off precisely on time after a flawless 10-hour countdown.

At 10:16 a.m. (EST), a high-pitched scream assaulted the ears of cape watchers as the engines ignited and built up to full thrust while 4 restraining arms held the struggling super-rocket on the pad.

All 8 engines worked smoothly and 3.6 seconds after ignition, an automatic sequencer signaled lift-off. The arms flipped back and with a howl that shook the ground Saturn climbed upward on a massive tower of exhaust flame.

Sixty seconds after lift-off, at a height of 7 miles, Saturn was slammed by maximum aerodynamic and atmospheric stresses. When it took them and kept going, right on course, a spokesman said "all hell broke loose" in the blockhouse.

On Its Way

The cheering crewmen knew then that the rocket was on its way, said the spokesman, Bert Slattery of NASA. Saturn had overcome 3-1 odds against success in this limited first flight.

When the 300 tons of fuel had been consumed, Saturn dived into the ocean about 70 miles northeast of little Abaco Island in the Bahamas. It had reached a top speed of 3,700 miles an hour and the flight lasted 8 minutes.

Only the first stage was tested. Two dummy upper stages were ballasted with water.

Von Braun, who was in the blockhouse as an advisor, was "very happy" with the outcome of the test.

—U.S., SOVIET TANKS LINE BORDER—

'Cat-And-Mouse' Duel Keeps Berlin Bristling

Berlin (AP) — American and Soviet tanks, facing with their guns levelled at point blank range, kept a sullen vigil through the night at the bristling Berlin sector border.

Perilous see-saw demonstrations of rival power indicated the world's central war-or-peace crisis was heading for some sort of a showdown.

While U.S. and Soviet tanks faced each other at the Friedrichstrasse crossing point, West Berlin and East Berlin police fought a duel with tear gas grenades at another point along the wall.

The East Berlin police hurled more than 20 tear gas grenades at a West Berlin loudspeaker truck broadcasting to East Berliners. West Berlin police retaliated with a bombardment of more than 30 tear gas grenades. No casualties were reported.

After a high pressure 'cat-and-mouse' duel of nerves along the walled frontier, Soviet soldiers joined East German Police (Vopos) on foot patrol while tank men on both sides dug in for a night of watchful waiting.

Began At Dusk

In an atmosphere of electric tension the grim facing of arms began at dusk Friday night when 10 U.S. Patton tanks rolled up to the border, supporting a new U.S. armed thrust into East Berlin to escort a U.S. civilian official. It was the 3rd such thrust in 3 days.

Minutes after U.S. forces withdrew from the area, 10 Soviet T34 and T54 tanks rumbled to the border, stopped and pointed their guns at U.S. Checkpoint Charlie on Friedrichstrasse. After a half hour they withdrew.

Then 5 U.S. Patton tanks lumbered up once again and stayed put, their guns pointing east across the grim zigzag checkpoint manned by East German police. Five were behind in reserve. This brought the Russian tanks to the checkpoint minutes later, and now the two were facing one another at a range of 200 yards.

Would Move West

A high Soviet source told an Associated Press correspondent at the checkpoint the United States should remember that if Western tanks moved into the East sector, Russian tanks could and would move into the West. And he indicated there are a large number of Soviet tanks on hand.

Another Soviet source said the Russians sent a stiff note to the U.S. command accusing the Americans of military intervention in East Germany through armed thrusts into East Berlin and threatening action if necessary. The report could not be confirmed in U.S. quarters.

The border presented a wierd, unworldly picture in the post-midnight darkness early Saturday morning. The 10 Soviet tanks, their outlines blurred by glaring Communist floodlights pointed at the West, were lined up in 5 rows of two each, their big guns pointed directly at the U.S. armor across the line.

Researcher Views Value Of 'Teaching Machines'

By WOODY HOWE
Star Staff Writer

The fear that "over-exposure" might wreck an important new concept of teaching was voiced Friday by an educational researcher.

Dr. Lawrence Willey was bringing teachers at the District I Nebraska State Teachers Association convention up to date on teaching machines and "programming materials."

Total attendance at the two-day convention which ended Friday was 3,565, falling a few short of the predicted 3,800.

"The clamor about teaching machines has been unfortunate because it stresses gimmickry," Dr. Willey told a small secondary school gathering at Pershing Auditorium.

In the language of automated teaching, what Dr. Willey was talking about was a "linear program," or, informally, a "paper teaching machine."

Dr. Willey works for a Chicago publishing company that specializes in linear learning programs.

The concept is roughly this: a student learns by answering a question (in a booklet, or on a teaching machine), then learns the correct answer before proceeding to the next question.

There are several models of teaching machines. One that could be adopted to Dr. Willey's program is a small, electrically - operated, desk-size object.

In a small window of this machine appears a question. The student writes his answer in another window, activating a mechanism which slides the correct answer, together with an explanation, into still another window. When the student is satisfied he understands the question, he presses a button which slides another question into view.

Advocates of this method say it introduces these "new" features: (1) the material is "atomized" into small steps; (2) the student learns for himself, rather than being "spoon-fed" with knowledge; (3) the student knows immediately whether his work has been correct.

Dr. Willey said too many private companies were ruining the idea by selling teaching machines without the learning material.

He warned the teachers, some of whom were fearful of being replaced by a machine, not to get excited about the machines: "Don't put the cart (machine) before the horse (program)."

He said the program could be "much more than just a feather in the audio-visual cap—it's more advantageous than educational television." And it will not replace the classroom teacher, he promised.

Indian 'Ambassador' Sees Capital City—And Jail

By GERRY WRIGHT
Star Staff Writer

A man who posed as an ambassador from India in Lincoln Thursday night began a 10-day jail sentence Friday for vagrancy.

LeRoy Lester Carreiro, 29, on probation from California on a non-support charge, pleaded guilty in Lancaster County Court Friday before Judge Ralph Slocum.

Dep. Co. Atty. William Blue told the court that Carreiro had called the Governor's Mansion from a local hotel and introduced himself as Sir Walter William Jeffries of India who was slated to be the guest of Governor Morrison.

Entertained

In the absence of the governor, Norman Otto, administrative assistant to the top state official, Gen. Lyle Welch, adjutant general, and Major Lloyd Johnson, entertained the "guest" with dinner and a tour of the city.

However, since no previous word had been received concerning the "ambassador's" arrival, the state representatives were a bit suspicious, Otto told The Star.

"We were suspicious from the first but we had no way of knowing that he wasn't expected, and we didn't want to offend him if he were actually a foreign ambassador," Otto said.

After getting him registered at the hotel for the night, Otto said they made arrangements to meet him Friday morning.

Otto Checked

Simultaneously the governor's office began checking the State Department in Washington Friday morning to verify the identity of the "guest," Otto said.

After discovering that the State Department knew of no such person, Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp was called and Carreiro was booked for investigation.

FBI records revealed that Carreiro was on probation from California.

He told county authorities that he was of Portuguese and French descent and was born in Hawaii.

Buildup Is Held To Be Adequate

McNamara Says His Decision Has Kennedy's Approval

Washington (AP)—The Kennedy administration announced Friday night it will not spend $780 million in extra money voted by Congress for more big bombers and to push work on aircraft of the future.

It said that even without the extra money, the buildup which it has undertaken "will give the nation a nuclear capability several times that of the Soviet Union."

The decision was announced by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who said he had President Kennedy's approval.

Congress, in addition to approving all the additional defense money which Kennedy asked when the Berlin crisis erupted, had added even more for another 45-plane wing of B52 heavy jet bombers, plus funds to speed development of other projects.

It Will Be Impounded

In announcing that this extra money would be impounded, the Defense Department said:

"The progress of the administration's accelerated defense buildup makes unnecessary the use of additional defense funds appropriated by the Congress above the amount requested by the administration."

The extra money which Congress urged upon the administration was composed of $514.5 million for additional B52 bombers; $180 million to press development of the B70 long-range, supersonic bomber; and $85.8 million for the Dyna Soar rocket-aircraft research vehicle project.

Thorough Review

"The decision to continue our present program was made after a most thorough review of all aspects of the matter," McNamara said in a statement.

"The clear conclusion of this latest analysis was that the progress of the administration's accelerated defense buildup makes unnecessary the use of additional funds appropriated.

"The buildup of our bomber and missile forces, which was recommended by the President and approved by the Congress, will give the nation a nuclear capability several times that of the Soviet Union.

"The decision to continue to pursue this program was reached after review with full participation of the civilian and military leaders of the Defense Department.

Factors Are Cited

McNamara said factors entering into the decision against using the money included these:

1. The recommendation against procuring more bombers "in no way means that our bombers are becoming obsolete." McNamara voiced confidence that the capability of both the medium and heavy bombers "will be more than enough to enable these bombers to penetrate to their targets."

He said this country now has a force of about 1,500 heavy and medium bombers, together with refueling tanker planes and that this "gives us more than enough capability to perform the tasks for which they are particularly suited."

This bomber force, McNamara said, will be able to perform its mission through the late 1960s and into the early 1970s.

2. The decision against using more money for the B70 project was based on a conclusion that the supersonic airplane should be pursued to demonstrate the technical feasibility of the faster-than-sound plane as an aircraft, rather than as a "full-scale weapon system."

3. The Dyna Soar is to be a winged rocket which can fly into the edge of space and, after returning to the atmosphere, use its wings to descend in a gliding path back to earth. McNamara said the present administration has added $30 million to the program of $70 million which had been requested by the Eisenhower administration. He said the recent review had shown no justification for using the additional funds voted over the $100 million.

Fallout Menace Held Not Yet Alarming

Conferees Told No Need To Act Now

Radioactive Ash Nears Northwest

Washington (AP) — A special two-day conference on nuclear fallout ended Friday with word from Deputy Surgeon General John D. Porterfield that there is no need for any immediate health protection action.

The conference, attended by about 100 federal, state and local health officers from all parts of the country, broke up as the fallout cloud from Russia's superbomb blast of last Monday drifted toward the Pacific Northwest.

The invisible concentration of radioactive ash is expected to reach Washington and Oregon Saturday morning. Weather Bureau experts said the fallout appears to be heading into a rain belt that might carry some of the debris to earth in Oregon and Idaho.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced the Russians fired another nuclear blast into the atmosphere from their atomic testing station Friday. It was the 25th test announced since Sept. 1.

Friday's blast was described as in the low to intermediate yield range, which would indicate an explosive force equivalent to anywhere from 20,000 to 500,000 tons of TNT.

Porterfield, in summarizing the health officers' meeting, told newsmen there are no indications that protective measures will be required even if the Russians cap their test series with the firing of a 50-megaton bomb around the end of October.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has said that is the way the tests will be concluded.

James G. Terrill Jr., assistant chief of the Public Health Service's division of radiological health, estimated the present Russian test series, assuming a 50-megaton bomb is exploded, will release about as much fallout as was released in all previous nuclear tests by the United States, Britain, France and Russia.

He refused to estimate how much radiation will result, saying this country might be lucky and find that most of the fallout goes into the oceans or falls elsewhere.

Porterfield said it was agreed at the health officers' meeting that the chief need now is for more and better monitoring of fallout, so that health authorities throughout the country will be kept informed of radiation levels.

Japan Gets Fallout

Tokyo (AP) — Heavy rains which lashed Japan Thursday and Friday brought the first radioactive fallout from Monday's Soviet super bomb blast and Geiger counts leaped to the highest level recorded since the Soviet Union resumed testing Sept. 1. As radiation rose, so did popular feeling.

Scientists, while on one hand urging the public to avoid undue exposure to rain, to wash vegetables with vinegar and filter drinking rain water, said the present level of radiation posed no immediate threat to human health.

A non-communist anti-nuclear organization called a demonstration by 10,000 to march past the Soviet Embassy Oct. 31 to protest the "ashes of death from the 50-megaton bomb."

Outer Mongolia And Mauritania Members Of U.N.

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI) —The General Assembly Friday elected communist Outer Mongolia and the West African country of Mauritania as the 102nd and 103rd members of the United Nations.

Election of the two new members—which more than doubled the total of 51 countries which signed the U.N. Charter in 1945—ended months of bickering in a political triangle involving China's representation here.

Outer Mongolia was elected without dissent and with no record vote. Only Nationalist China, which reluctantly agreed not to block membership for Mongolia, did not participate in the vote.

Over bitter objection by Morocco, which considers Mauritania part of its rightful territory, the Assembly elected the West African country by a 68-13 vote, with 20 abstentions.

'Brainiest' Controller Works At 48th And O

By GARY RODGERS
Star Staff Writer

Installation of a $15,000 fully-automatic traffic control system at 48th and O was completed Friday.

An electronic "brain" coordinates 12 separate signals at the intersection.

Cars approaching the intersection pass over actuation pads which send signals to an analog computer which then "makes up its mind" who's going to get the green light and for how long.

The amount of traffic traveling in each direction and the number of cars waiting for a red light determine the sequence of the operation, said H. S. Barnes.

He is the field engineer of H. G. Allen, Inc., which supplied the control mechanism, manufactured by Automatic Signal Division, Laboratory for Electronics, and who was in Lincoln Friday to supervise the installation.

Barnes said this controller has more "brains" than any other system in the world "A green light for making a left turn is on only when a car enters the center lane reserved for that purpose," he explained.

He said each car approaching the intersection extends the time which the signal will remain green in that direction, up to a pre-determined maximum.

Must Move

"But if a gap in the traffic occurs," he said, "then the other direction will get the green light. You have to keep moving or you lose your turn."

Lt. Don Smith, Lincoln police traffic control officer, looks for the signal to be a big help in moving rush-hour traffic.

He said the system is also designed to help eliminate left turn accidents because during the time the left turn is permitted, through traffic is stopped.

Must Be Alert

Lt. Smith said drivers will have to be alert when crossing the intersection.

"The light in an adjacent lane may be green when it is red in your lane," Smith said. "Watch the light that is directly over your lane of traffic."

Also present when the signal was put into operation were State Traffic Engineer Bob Meyer and Harry Meyer of the city engineer's office.

The project was financed on a cost-sharing basis with the federal government.

Omahan Hit By Car Dies

Omaha (AP) — An Omaha woman was killed Friday night when struck by a truck at 25th and M Streets in South Omaha.

She was identified as Eleanor Hudges.

Edwin C. Hollis of 84th and Q Streets, driver of the truck, said the woman walked in front of his truck. He said he was driving about 25 miles an hour and couldn't stop in time to avoid striking the woman.

TB Reduction Is Sought In State

A reduction in tuberculosis attack rates in Nebraska from the present 9.3 per thousand to 6.2 by 1970 is being sought, according to Delmar Serafy, director of the Nebraska Tuberculois Assn.

The goal is part of a program designed to bring the national average down to 10 per hundred thousand by 1970, Serafy told a meeting of the Lancaster County Tuberculosis Association Friday.

Nebraska's present 9.3 rate compares to others as low as 8.4 in Iowa and as high as 51.9 in New Mexico, he said.

Walter Nolte, Lincoln, was appointed chairman of the association's 1961-62 budget committee. Other members of the committee are E. S. Wescott, Dr. Donald F. Purvis, and William T. Edwards, all of Lincoln.

'U.N. Role Is To Help New Nations Achieve Their Goals'

"The role of the United Nations is to help new states achieve their goals, not to serve as an arena in which the U.S. must defend its ideology against that of other countries."

This was the statement Friday of Irving Levitas, director of adult services at the Jewish Community Center at Kansas City, speaking to a student convocation at the University of Nebraska.

"The U.S. must work with underdeveloped countries to assist them in achieving an economy of abundance, the type of economy under which our democracy thrives," he explained.

Levitas, also a faculty member of the University of Kansas City and a member of the United Nations Speakers' Bureau, told students:

"There are 3 ways to gain an economy of abundance: conquest, confiscation, and loans. Castro tried the first, Khrushchev tried the second, and several other countries are now being asked to try the third."

U.N. Helps

"The role of the U.N. is to help these new states achieve their goals with a minimum of friction. The only way we can show other nations the West is trying to cooperate with them is through the UN."

Levitas said that, in his opinion, intelligence is "being able to talk to people you don't get along with." He noted that, for this reason, the U.N. is important.

Levitas said Asia and Africa are rapidly transforming their sociologies to those of the West but "the only thing they consider Western is our scientific method."

He added that the West has learned, of all aspects of human activity, technology requires no specific cultural backgrounds.

"Any native of Asia and Africa can, within one generation, become a scientist or technician," Levitas claimed.

"This is the real problem posed by the Soviet Union. They have proved that in two generations you can match the West's achievements in technology."

Blonde Coed Is Strangled

. . . At Lexington, Ky.

Lexington, Ky. (UPI) — A petite, blonde coed choir singer was strangled with her own brassiere early Friday in her foreign-made car parked on the campus of historic Transylvania College near the heart of downtown Lexington.

The body of sophomore Betty Gail Brown, 19, an only child and a scholarship student, was found clad in Bermuda shorts and a white blouse.

Her body was discovered a few minutes after she had been reported missing by her parents when she failed to return from a late night study session for a biology exam.

"She was choked to death with the cords that tied her brassiere," Police Chief E. C. Hale said. He added she had not been raped.

She was one of 590 students at Transylvania, a Church of Christ institution and one of the oldest colleges west of the Alleghenies. Among its prominent students in the past were Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy.

Burglary Ring Smashed With Four Arrests

Omaha (AP) — Police Friday night said that a burglary ring that took thousands of dollars of television sets, luggage, jewelry and other items from West Omaha homes had been smashed.

Officers said one man held, 36-year-old Edwin A. Ritchey, has been sought for two years as an Iowa prison escapee.

Detectives said their first lead came when FBI agents checked about 4 persons who cashed stolen government bonds at Sioux City, Iowa. More than $4,000 in bonds were cashed at two Sioux City banks, police said, by a woman using a false driver's license obtained in Omaha.

The bonds were stolen from the H. C. Schuster home in Omaha.

Police went to the address listed on the driver's license and there they arrested Richie, his wife, 22 year old Patricia; 28 year old Kenneth M. Earlywine of East Omaha and 49 year old Dorothy L. Hines of Omaha.

Officers said much stolen merchandise was found at the apartment where the arrests were made.

Three other persons whose names were not released were held.

Strike Apparently Dooms N.Y. To Milkless Weekend

New York (AP) — A 3-day Teamsters Union strike apparently doomed 10 million New York and Long Island consumers Friday to a milkless weekend. Retail supplies were all but exhausted, with some price gouging reported.

Even with a quick return to work of 10,000 teamsters truck drivers and plant handlers—and none was in sight—it would take at least 24 hours for the normal flow of 8 million quarts a day to be resumed in the area.

Irving R. Wisch, bargaining chairman for milk dealers, said in the midst of continuing peace talks that settlement Sunday in time for milk deliveries Monday was about the best for which to hope.

Upstate dairy farmers, meanwhile, grumbled in anger as they were forced to divert their milk at reduced prices to cheese and butter factories.

They spoke of retaliating against teamsters strikers in New York by cutting off at the source the supply of milk for the entire New York-New Jersey metropolitan area.

"We can cut off the supply," said John C. York, executive director of the eastern milk producers cooperative at Syracuse. Such pressure, he added, might force the intervention in the New York strike of President Kennedy or Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The striking truck drivers and plant handlers were members of 3 locals of the Teamsters Union. The strike began Tuesday with a walkout of 5,000 members of Local 584. Locals 602 and 607 called out an additional 5,000 teamsters on Wednesday.

Stolen Baby Found In Missouri Town

...Sioux City Baby Sitter 'Wanted Child'

Harrisonville, Mo. (AP) — A baby-sitter who disappeared from Sioux City, Iowa, with a 2-month-old girl was found Friday night near Belton, Mo., by sheriff's officers.

The baby, also found, was in good condition, Sheriff Jack McComas said. A pediatrician examined the infant and said she was quite healthy, except for a trace of a cold.

The baby-sitter, Mrs. Margarte McKeown, 37, of Sioux City, took the child from the home of Mrs. Ruby Willett, 17, while Mrs. Willett was looking for work Monday.

Accompanied by Eugene Overbeck, 35, of Sioux City, Mrs. McKeown hitchhiked to a sister's home near Belton, arriving there at noon Tuesday.

Sheriff McComas said Mrs. McKeown told the sister, Mrs. Harry Chavis, that the baby was hers. The sisters hadn't seen each other for several years, and Mrs. Chavis believed the story, the sheriff said.

The sheriff said he got a telephone tip after a story of the child theft was carried on a television news program.

McComas said Mrs. McKeown was a former mental patient at a Kansas City hospital. He quoted her as saying she took the baby "because I wanted her."

Overbeck and Mrs. McKeown were being held for Iowa authorities.

Mrs. McKeown was sitting with the baby Monday while Mrs. Willett was looking for work, and apparently disappeared with the child. She and Overbeck have been charged with child stealing in Sioux City.

Two truck drivers earlier had reported giving rides across Nebraska to a woman and baby and a midget. Mrs. McKeown was known to be a friend of Overbeck's who Sioux City police said is about 4 feet 2 inches tall.

Policeman Lester Sailors quoted Don Gilkerson, who farms near Hiawatha, Kan., as saying he picked up a small man, a woman and an infant about 8 a.m. Wednesday and took them from Falls City to a highway junction 3 miles north of Hiawatha.

Gilkerson told officers the two adults he picked up said they headed for Kansas City. A truck driver who told police he had given a lift to apparently the same 3 persons also said they told him they were going to Kansas City.

Ex-Mental Patient

Mrs. McKeown is a former mental patient, Sioux City police said. She was sitting with 3 of Mrs. Willett's children when she apparently left with the baby.

Mrs. Willett's husband is in jail at Yankton, S.D., on a bad check charge, police said in Sioux City.

The McKeowns live across the hall from Mrs. Willett in the same apartment building.

Mrs. Willett did not report the baby, Jacqueline Marie, missing until Wednesday, police said. They said she told them that McKeown had assured her that the baby was all right and that Mrs. McKeown would return the child.

Increased Number Of Federal Gambling Stamps In State

Washington (AP) — The number of federal wagering stamps sold in Nebraska is on the increase.

There were 49 of the $50-a-year occupational stamps sold in the state during the year which ended last June 30 as compared with 42 in the previous year.

The Internal Revenue Service, in reporting this, said 9,189 of the stamps were sold across the nation in the last fiscal year—a drop from the 9,356 sold in the previous 12-month period.

Gambling, in itself, is not a federal offense.

An IRS spokesman explained that any person engaged in accepting wagers is required to buy the occupational stamp. He also is required to pay a 10% excise tax on the accepted wagers.

The spokesman said these stamps would cover such things as baseball and football pools and bookie operations.

The IRS said the amount paid in excise taxes under federal regulations is not yet available for the 1961 fiscal year but the 10% levy amounted to $34,000 in Nebraska during the previous 12 months.

A sizable increase also was reported in Nebraska in the number of $250 per unit stamps required for gaming devices, which includes such things as slot machines.

The IRS reports there were 105 of these stamps sold in the state during the 1961 fiscal year as compared with 12 months.

A contrasting decrease occurred in the number of $10 federal stamps issued in Nevices—such things as pin ball machines which do not pay off for the winners.

Revised Bond Issue Up For Ogallala Vote

Ogallala (AP)—Board of Education members here have pared nearly one-third of a million dollars from the first school bond issue attempt and have set a second special election for Nov. 17.

New price tag is $498,000. The $829,000 bond issue election held last spring was rejected nearly 3-to-one.

Four major items have been eliminated: a vocational shop, home economics department, physical education department and cafeteria.

A different site has also been picked—just east of the football field on school property. For the bond issue held last spring, the board would have had to purchase additional land.

The board has approved a two-story structure with two rectangular wings. One would contain classrooms for commercial studies, science, mathematics, language and social studies. The other wing would include a music room, lecture hall, library and administrative space.

Only two weeks ago the Board of Education pared the amount to an estimated $575,000, down a quarter of a million dollars from the original try. Now the board has trimmed an additional $77,000 from the proposed structure.

The $498,000 price tag includes general construction costs of $412,000, plus fees, school equipment, landscape and site work and contingencies.

The original bond issue was defeated by 1,094 to 391. The 1,481 ballots cast represented the largest turnout for a special election in the history of the city.

'Teachers' Pay Comes In Satisfaction'

By GENE BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

Norfolk—"Our pay doesn't come in any envelope," one teacher told some 1,600 others Friday.

"It comes in satisfaction," said Dr. Carl S. Winters, member of the Chicago school system and a traveling lecturer for General Motors.

Winters was here to address District 3 Nebraska State Education Association at their annual convention.

"Mentally," the speaker said, "the teacher is the highest paid person in any profession. Now all we need is enough to live on."

"But," Winters said, "monetary returns in the field of education are improving at a constant pace."

His comments drew loud and frequent applause from the tutors.

Highlighting the two-day convention, which shattered previous attendance records, Dr. Winters called his listeners a band of "intellectual cops."

He also said:

"You have to watch the kids and make sure they learn enough to make mom and dad happy.

"At the same time, you've got to make sure they know enough to survive in this complex world."

The conventioners picked Marvin Miller of O'Neill as their president. The new chief executive promised "constructive administration."

In his cabinet are Mrs. Lydia Butler of Wayne, vice president; Gail Sims of Albion, secretary; and K. R. Mitchell of Allen, treasurer.

Norfolk again was selected as the 1962 convention site.

Dr. Sell Named President-Elect

Grand Island (AP) — Dr. Paul Sell of Grand Island was named vice president and president-elect of District 4 of the Nebraska State Education Association Friday.

Donald Prather of Kearney, who has been serving as vice president, took over as president.

Other officers include Helen Shields of North Platte, secretary; Larry Bauer of Kearney, treasurer, and W. W. Rhodes of Kearney, a member of the district executive committee.

On an experimental basis, it was agreed to merge districts 4 and 5 during the coming year. The two districts will meet at Kearney in 1962 and a decision will be made then on whether the merger should be permanent.

The district, which includes many rural teachers, went on record in favor of an initiative vote by the State School Boards Association requiring statewide compulsory school redistricting within 5 years to give kindergarten through 12th grade education. This, in effect, would eliminate rural schools.

Doncheski Will Succeed Christie

Omaha (AP)—William Doncheski, elementary school supervisor at Fremont, was elected president of District 2, Nebraska State Education Association Friday, to succeed Robert H. Christie, Omaha South High School social studies teacher.

Christie was named member of the state executive committee for a two-year term.

Hope In Soviet Success

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

In a foreign policy briefing in Kansas City this week, administration officials made note of the almost complete emphasis placed on material gains by the 22nd Congress of the Communist Party. In glowing terms, Premier Nikita Khrushchev has outlined for his people a future of plenty. He has spoken of better homes, better food, more leisure time and more of everything for the Soviet people in the years ahead.

Taking Second Look

One's first reaction to this might be anything but the right one. For instance, you may say that it is a bunch of malarkey—more promises for the Russian people to live on and a goal that will never be achieved. You might go on to hope, too, that such is the case so the Communist Party begins to have trouble with the general population. After all, how long can 6 million people live on promises? It might not cross your mind, however, that success for Khrushchev in his material goals could be just the thing the doctor ordered for the Western world.

It may sound strange to advocate that communism succeed in anything but it should be noted that there is no such advocacy simply for the sake of communism. Rather, such advocacy would be made only in the hope that it would contribute to the eventual disintegration of communism. Of course, what will actually come to pass in Russia and throughout the world is impossible to say but it is important as well as interesting to speculate upon it.

It should be remembered that communism's ultimate objective is a state of being for all people without want. It believes this can be accomplished only in ways far different from those used in the Western world but this objective, even though it might not be in the heart of all communists, is not an evil one. The evil in communism lies in its means to its end and its lack of any spiritual parts.

Furthermore, communism was founded on the brooding of class struggles within the Russian empire at the time of the czars. Its success represents the success of the lower classes, the have-not classes. Therefore, communism could use just about any means to achieve its ends because it had nothing to lose. The people who followed this political system were unencumbered by any desire for the preservation of anything as it existed at the time. Life to these people was of little value because it contained no rewards and established systems were of no value because they offered nothing to anyone but the privileged few.

But as communism grows, it takes on a different complexion. With each and every success, the communist system has more to lose in the next battle it faces. Any man facing death will fight like a tiger because the end result of fighting could not possibly be any worse than the thing being fought. But given a certain number of choices, a man will be more cautious and reserved in his actions because the possibility of life is greater and he does not want to diminish this possibility with any rash action. He will try not to risk his life to save his life for fear of defeating himself and falling victim to the very thing he seeks to avoid. Something of this sort of thing could be in the cards for the communist system.

It can be recalled that Communist China has boasted of the fact that it could lose millions of people in a war and be even better off than it is. Consequently, China is without one of the strongest deterrents to making war—the loss of human life. She is motivated by the same thing which motivated the early revolution of communism.

But when and if communism ever achieves the material goals that Khrushchev promises, she will begin to have something to lose in any war. Even today, part of the reason Khrushchev does not want a war is that it will destroy the material gains he has made and will put a kink in his timetable for future achievements. If his newest plan of achievement is attained, war will become all the more repugnant to him and the Russian people.

The Gradual Evolution

It might be argued that success on the domestic scene will also make communism stronger and this is probably a valid argument. But as the Soviet social order is transformed, it might also bring about changes in the Communist party. As Russia becomes more advanced throughout society, she will come to face more of the same kind of problems faced by the other advanced nations of the world. She will have to worry about incentive for her people, about the possibility of inflation and about the attitude of the people themselves. It is pertinent to wonder just how socialistic a person can remain when his standard of living is on the increase.

Once an individual has reached a higher level of living, he may find it difficult to surrender this position in order to average things out with his neighbor. The net result might be a slow change in some of the fundamentals of communism and a political system with which we could consider living at peace.

Cloak And Dagger Man

When the gifted Walt Disney created Mickey Mouse America got a big lift. That elfin little rodent has immense appeal to children. And adults find him entertaining, too. He has been the joke section of human nature, and we always thought, a real nice, friendly little fellow.

It is with some dismay we learn that he is actually a sinister character with a malevolent and destructive disposition. He is a subversionist, a capitalistic propagandist and a hater of people. What's more he is now barred behind the Iron Curtain where he has been found out. He is also an implacable foe of peace. The East German youth have been directed by a youth leader, writing in the Communist newspaper Ostsee Zeitung, to get him out of their lives.

If from the Red view Mickey Mouse is so dreadful then we have worse news for those beleaguered people. Mickey is only one of several, and they have a big fight ahead of them. There is Smokey the Bear, for instance. He is constantly propagandizing against forest fires and that is a pretty thin veneer over his true intentions. He is a dreadful reactionary, a sinister anti-revolutionist and a subtle worker for the status quo. If there are trees on the mountain he says, "Let's keep them there. Let us not burn them and start a new world." Obviously he is against change.

Then there are other little cartoon characters who exist to provoke light hearted laughter, and that's reactionary, too, and a great handicap to a dedicated authoritarian who has to get himself in the right frame of mind for a busy day of assassination and putting the screws on the bunch of people. That's no laughing matter, either for he who does it or for those he does it to.

Honoring An Ideal

This year's Nobel Peace Prize Committee departed from the normal in selecting its two men for its 1960-1961 award. While contribution to peace has been the theme, past committees have selected individuals who have had their efforts crowned by visible evidence of success. In this latter respect neither of the two new selections could be described as triumphant.

Dag Hammarskjold, Secretary-General of the United Nations, now deceased, was one. John Luthuli, Zulu tribal chief and president of African National Congress is the other.

Luthuli waged a long and persistent fight for racial equality in south Africa. He did not win. Apartheid prevailed against his efforts and he is now living in banishment in Natal province, largely shorn of influence.

Hammarskjold met his death trying to make the United Nations a positive force for world peace and understanding, specifically applied in a revolutionary and troubled Africa. He worked for peace and justice, but it cannot be said that he won.

In selecting two men who tried in an admirable way but did not prevail, the Nobel committee honored the exemplification of an ideal rather than the achievement of it. In some respects these were better than usual selections. If the world grants honor to an individual who completed his feat it largely accepts a role of caretaker of the gain, pledges itself not to lose it. But when it subscribes to an unrealized ideal it commits itself to pursue that ideal with positive and fulfilling acts. That is a bigger and more desirable role. In the selection of Hammarskjold and Luthuli the world is directed to carry on the work rather than to husband a gain.

Let's Get The Answers

From The Denver Post

Affairs in the Dominican Republic are not going as well as they ought to be going, if the Dominican successors of Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo were sincere in their claims—made piously to the Organization of American States—that they would seek to democratize their land.

Until the assassination of Trujillo, the Dominican Republic was living at odds with almost all the other nations of the Americas.

In order to avoid either outright interference or disapproval and lateral interference, the successors to Trujillo gave indication that they would try to eliminate tyranny.

Since that time, after a period of quiescence, there has been no sign of the necessary reforms, and indeed there has been an ominous silence from Dominica.

Not long ago, the Inter-American Commission on Human Rights was greeted with demonstrations and shouts of "Yankee go home" when the commission arrived in Ciudad Trujillo.

Were the demonstrators Communists? Were they supporters of the opposition party in the Republic—the Revolutionary Party? Were they agent's provacateurs of the official party? Or were they just noisy emotional people who have been attracted by the success of Castro's revolution, and want to beard any and all people—especially Americans of the north—who come into their land?

This is the kind of question the OAS should concern itself with at this stage in the Dominican Republic's affairs.

Hint Of Bribery Stirs NY Inquiry

NEW YORK—Details of the judicial bribery scandal smoldering in New York for some time can now be revealed. They involve a reported $35,000 payment by three racketeers to a New York Supreme Court judge, J. Vincent Keogh, and to an assistant U.S. attorney, Elliott Kahaner, a Republican holdover. Both are under investigation and Kahaner has now resigned.

A federal judge, Leo Rayfiel, former Democratic congressman, was supposed to let the three defendants off with a suspended sentence, but threw the book at them instead. The man who tipped him off that a fix was supposed to be in was Joseph C. Zavatt, Nassau county judge.

A prominent New York doctor, Robert Erdman, 127 E. 61st St., was the man who first approached Judge Keough on behalf of the three defendants. Erdman has been cooperating with the Justice Department in testimony before a federal grand jury, and an indictment is expected soon.

The indictment is certain to shake the already scandal-torn administration of Mayor Robert Wagner and could lead to his defeat at the hands of Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, Republican opponent. If so, it will give a big boost to the reelection of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and his nomination to run against Kennedy in 1964.

Details of the bribe scandal go back to three juke box operators, Samford J. Moore, an ex-cop, Sherwood Schwack and Allen Kerner, when they got involved in a federal fraud charge in Suffolk County, Long Island. Figuring they were due for a tough sentence, they approached Dr. Robert Erdman, a fashionable doctor who practices in Manhattan but lives on Long Island. Dr. Erdman, reported to be a millionarire and employing a staff of assistant doctors, approached Judge Keogh.

The approach was made through the office of Keogh's brother, Congressman Eugene Keogh, of Brooklyn, one of the top supporters of the Kennedy administration.

Congressman Keogh's name does not appear in the Justice Department investigators' report on the bribery case. He is now in Europe.

However, federal investigators have confirmed the acceptance of part of the $35,000 by Judge Keogh. At first the judge denied receiving any part of the money, but later, when confronted with irrefutable evidence, claimed that the payment was a loan.

My associate, Jack Anderson, called on Judge Keogh at the New York Supreme Court and talked first with his administrative assistant, who said that the judge was on the bench. Anderson then went into the court with the hope of talking to the judge after court adjourned. But when a note was handed to the judge from his administrative assistant, he banged the gavel, hastily adjourned court, and slipped out the back way. Further attempts to see the judge were met with the statement that he was not available.

New Jersey Race Worries Democrats

TRENTON, N.J. — The home stretch of the race between Democrat Richard J. Hughes and Republican James P. Mitchell for governor of New Jersey has failed to develop a compelling issue.

Mitchell headquarters are relaxed and confident. They think their candidate began ahead and is maintaining his lead.

Greater tension is apparent at Hughes headquarters. Their polls show that he has, by hard campaigning, closed some of the early gap.

If the vote is light, Democratic organization—known in the Mitchell campaign lexicon as "Bossism"—will certainly count. Republicans cannot match it, though they do have their popular senior U.S. Senator, Clifford Case, who has shown himself able to beat the bosses of both parties in his own triumphal races for Congress.

It was Case who pushed Mitchell's primary candidacy and helped him to a lustrous start when Mitchell won with only three of the 21 county leaders in his corner. This, added to his excellent national reputation, gave him the early advantage against which Hughes still struggles.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Republican primary had the further effect of lulling Democratic apprehensions over their chances. Instead of settling quickly on their strongest man, each leader pressed for his favorite. The final choice, Hughes, a former state legislator and former judge, is a credit to his party but was unnecessarily handicapped.

The irony is that eight years ago some of the same men made the same mistake in reverse. They thought then that the Democratic nominee for governor could not win and offhandedly gave the nod to Robert Meyner. Meyner was elected and re-elected.

This year, with the statehouse in their control and a Democratic president, they thought practically any Democrat could win. Mitchell's snowballing campaign has enlightened them, possibly too late.

☆ ☆ ☆

Meyner had the good fortune to find a live corruption issue in his first campaign and, with a not-too-partisan administration at Trenton, held his advantage four years later.

The New Jersey election will not really reveal much of the national temper at the moment, no matter how it goes. Its national importance rests on the fact that a Mitchell-Case Republican bastion here would materially fortify the party on the Atlantic seaboard. This in turn would play an important part in the Republican choice of a 1964 presidential nominee.

President Kennedy would naturally prefer to see New Jersey in Democratic hands, but it appears that he includes it among the losses a President takes in off-years.

The center of isolationism?

Fourteen hundred invited guests from 5 Midwestern states turned up this week at a giant State Department foreign policy briefing in Kansas City.

Nine hundred attended an earlier confab in San Francisco; 700 showed up in Denver.

By comparison, the Great Plains — traditional heartland of isolation in the U.S. —appears to have come of age in the area of foreign affairs.

In capsule form, here are some of the points made by top-level diplomats during 5 hours of briefing and a luncheon address by Undersecretary Chester Bowles.

First, the surprises:

—Algeria, not the Congo, is regarded as the overriding unsolved problem in Africa. It will, when it gains some form of independence, boast the strongest army on the continent.

—Price stabilization of exports is regarded as the most immediate and urgent problem in Latin America.

—Castro's Cuba, purportedly suffering from a rapidly deteriorating economy, could become a U.S. advantage by its potential example of complete failure.

Other factors brought into focus by the State Department:

—U.S. aid to Yugoslavia is considered eminently successful in having maintained that nation's independence from Russia and reducing prospects of war in the Balkans.

—Aid to Poland is designed to keep hope alive in an Iron Curtain country which indicated its true position in an extraordinary response to Dick Nixon's Warsaw visit.

—The U.S. views the Katanga problem as a secessionist movement damaging to Congo reunification.

—Consideration of any U.S. recognition of Outer Mongolia will await a review of its performance within the U.N. and on the world scene.

—The U.S. continues flatly to oppose admission of Red China to the U.N.

—The population explosion in Latin America has actually led to a decline in per capita living conditions.

—This nation is not now considering any invasion of Cuba.

—No revolution is possible in the Soviet Union due to its system of complete control.

—The U.S. was not prepared to come to the aid of Hungary in 1956 partly because of a lack of conventional arms and troop deployment in Europe.

—The U.N. saved the Congo from total war.

☆ ☆ ☆

Among other observations:

—There is no harm in the U.S. working for total disarmament, but it candidly does not expect to succeed.

—The administration's Alliance for Progress carries with it the sum and substance of U.S. aspirations for the development and independence of Latin America.

—The Peace Corps will probably make some more blunders, but it is essentially a valuable force in American foreign policy.

—The U.S. should concentrate on more world affairs instruction in its schools and colleges and an increased student exchange program.

—Red China presents an extremely dangerous potential for expansionist policy, partly due to its runaway population.

—Conventional war in Europe involving the two great powers is not possible, at least for long.

—The rift between Red China and the Soviet Union is largely based on a dispute over leadership in the communist bloc; Red China considers Khrushchev soft on capitalism.

—The U.S. will go to war only when the alternative is even worse; it would go to war if attempts were made to force it out of West Berlin.

—American race relations are an international issue.

—Soviet presence in Africa should be regarded as a challenge and an opportunity for the U.S. to compete with success.

—Trade among free nations should be expanded, not cut. A tariff wall would damage the U.S.

—The answer to the communist challenge is more democracy and progressivism, not less.

—Sometimes the U.S. must choose in its foreign affairs from a series of courses, none of which is desirable.

Briefings featured Bowles and Russian expert Chip Bohlen.

Assistant secretaries for Africa and Latin America, and the deputy director for foreign assistance also participated.

MARQUIS CHILDS

India's Double Standard Slows West

WASHINGTON — If ever a President needed to have steady nerves and to detach himself as nearly as possible from the fierce pressures beating down on him, it is the man who now occupies the White House.

His position is incredibly difficult. On the one hand he is imprisoned by allies who persistently refuse to see the need to begin a rational search for a way out of the Berlin crisis. On the other hand the wild irrationality of the Soviets in exploding the super bomb has set off a wave of fear and anger around the world.

Between these two extremes the President seems to be immobilized. He finds it hard even to communicate the nature of the trap in which he finds himself. If he talks publicly about the problem of the allies, the crack in the west wall will be widened. Almost anything he might say about Soviet action in spreading a new rain of radioactive fallout on helpless peoples would feed the fear and accentuate the frenzy.

Still another element has contributed to the sense of immobilization that this grim moment has brought. The Asians and Africans—the neutrals—in the United Nations have simply declined to stand up and be counted on the fallout threat and the menace of the Soviet tests in the atmosphere. And this raises a point being widely discussed in private at high-policy levels here.

On November 7 Prime Minister Nehru of India is coming to Washington on a state visit. This is considered as perhaps the most important of the long succession of visits that have so occupied the President's time. Under Nehru's direction, India is seeking to follow the path of freedom as against the example of Red China, which is a totalitarian regime enforcing with the utmost ruthlessness an extreme form of collectivism. The United States, along with Britain and other Western powers, has done a great deal to help in the vast experiment India is undertaking.

Yet India's delegate to the United Nations, V. K. Krishna Menon, the minister of defense, is contributing perhaps more than any single individual to frustrating the Western effort to get a strong resolution on nuclear testing. While no official will say it out loud, the Indian effort seems calculated to give the Soviets an out and at the same time to embarrass this country if and when the President decides it is essential to conduct American tests in the atmosphere.

The resolution put forward by India proposes a new uncontrolled moratorium on all tests. The adoption of this resolution could coincide with the end of the present series of Soviet tests. Then with fine self-righteousness—the communist bloc peoples have never been told of the current test series — they could agree to abide by the moratorium and try to turn the propaganda knife against the United States for continuing to test.

It has become clear that during the uncontrolled moratorium, which lasted more than two and a half years, the Soviets went ahead with the most elaborate preparations to carry out their present test series. With the exception of preparing for underground tests, which do not pollute the atmosphere, this country strictly observed the conditions of the moratorium. The President has said that he will never again agree to such an uncontrolled and uninspected moratorium.

The resolution put forward by the United States and Britain calls for agreement to a draft treaty that would outlaw all tests under inspection and control. The draft treaty submitted by the two Western nuclear powers embodies all the 18 articles which have been agreed to, along with parts of additional articles accepted at Geneva before the Soviets reversed their position and came out against any inspection and control.

Arthur Dean, head of the American delegation at the Geneva test talks, has declared that such a treaty could be ratified within 30 days. That may be a slight exaggeration but it is surely untrue, as Khrishna Menon is said to have led many delegates to believe, that the test-ban treaty would be as hopeless to obtain as general and complete disarmament.

Courageous leadership by India could have swung the balance in the view of officials who have been observing the struggle at firsthand. Similarly, Indian influence would have made it much easier to get a suitable solution of the dispute over an acting secretary-general that now seems to have been resolved.

No one questions Nehru's right to keep his old and close friend, Krishna Menon, at the head of his delegation at the U.N. What makes the situation more paradoxical is that Indian newspapers have expressed widespread condemnation of the Soviet tests and the fallout danger resulting from them. The unspoken question in the minds of his hosts when the prime minister comes here next month will be with respect to the double standard of stern denunciation for the United States, as so often in the past, and turning the other cheek to the Soviet transgressor.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

How Los Angeles Deals With Its Senior Citizens

By Robert Peterson

As you walk the streets of Los Angeles you see a lot of gray heads and bent figures. California has always been a magnet for the retired, and many of those who wend their way westward wind up in this city or its environs.

Many observers believe that the plan which has evolved in this city for dealing with its rising elder citizenry will eventually win acceptance in cities everywhere.

"We don't believe a community this size should attempt to conduct activities for elders," says capable, husky Arthur Tryon, head of Senior Citizen Affairs for the county of Los Angeles. "Our county has half a million past 65 and the job would be too big.

"Instead of conducting things for them, we spark activities by prodding existing organizations into taking a keener interest in the aged. Our office is an information and coordinating center. We try to keep abreast of everything going on for seniors here. Any older person can come to us and we'll direct him to an agency or group which can help him with his problems.

"We have a board of directors composed of outstanding community leaders which meets regularly and discusses needs of older people. Then we pass ideas and suggestions on to appropriate local groups—such as religious, fraternal, and social organizations—which we feel can best implement these needs.

"Our geriatric philosophy is quite a bit different from that in many areas. We aren't enthusiastic about social and recreational programs. They have their place, but we think it's much more important to help older people continue useful, independent patterns of living.

"I think it's a crime to see masses of elders spending their days playing cards or shuffleboard. I simply cannot believe that they find light recreation a satisfying substitute for the useful lives they formerly led.

"We've found you can get local groups to do a lot if you just ask them. We created an 'Adopt a Grandparent' program and have some 2,500 teen-agers signed up to make half-hour calls once a week on elders in nursing homes whose names we supply. We find churches and civic groups are often glad to establish day centers and craft classes. And we've found that after a bit of coaxing many hospitals and nursing homes are now recruiting and training healthy older people to do volunteer tasks.

"We're particularly happy about the way the state employment office has tackled the problem of finding jobs for older people. That office now provides our county with some 50 counselors who specialize in placing folks past 50."

Communities which haven't yet established a coordinated senior citizen program would do well to study the Los Angeles plan, which operates on a relatively modest budget of $160,000 a year. It's inexpensive yet it permits officials to keep their fingers on the pulse of activities and needs among elders. It provides seniors with a specific place where they can go to get help with their problems. And it expounds the eminently sound philosophy that purposeful endeavor is more satisfying for elders than pinochle and shuffleboard.

'School Aid Needs Disguise'

By WOODY HOWE
Star Staff Writer

A Wyoming Senator predicted Friday that if Congress is going to do anything about aid to education next session, "we'll have to disguise it as a fallout shelter program.

"And that's no joke," Senator Gale W. McGee cynically told an audience of teachers at Pershing Municipal Auditorium.

The youthful Democrat was emphasizing the point that Americans are willing to spend millions for defense, but are reluctant to accept education as the nation's number one priority.

Few Debates

Congress has few debates on "$5 billion or more for jets and bombs, but just raise the tiny point of how much you're going to spend on education and you're in trouble," Sen. McGee pointed out.

He said Senators get more mail requesting cuts in taxes, government spending and the budget than on all other topics combined.

In an address reminiscent of some of President Kennedy's speeches, Sen. McGee pounded home his point with these sobering thoughts:

"There is a massive national hypocrisy, a reluctance to face the hardships of the times.

"That hypocrisy is part of the blight at the core of American democracy.

"The time has come for hard talk, for the truth . . . there are too many cheap peddlers of solutions . . . too many gadgets and slogans as substitutes for deeds.

Can't Cut

"We can't cut spending; it's going to get higher all the time."

In a mostly nonpartisan speech, given without a prepared text, Sen. McGee made the plea that Americans "work toward what we're for, rather than cringe in fear of what we're against."

He urged a realignment of national focus — "on people rather than things."

Earlier Friday morning, the audience at the District 1 Nebraska State Education Association convention listened to Dr. Robert B. Howsam of the University of Rochester.

Dr. Howsam centered his address on teachers' becoming more aware of their role as professionals, rather than mere administrators or "operatives."

U.N. Approves Solemn Appeal Asking Russia To Stop Testing

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations Friday night approved a solemn appeal to the Soviet Union to refrain from testing a 50-megaton H-bomb.

By a vote of 87 to 11 with one absention the 103-nation assembly ratified a resolution submitted by 8 nations asking cancellation of big bomb test which the Soviet Union said it planned by the end of the month.

The 9 Soviet Bloc countries, the new Communist member Outer Mongolia, and Cuba voted against the proposal. Mali abstained.

Won't Heed It

Just before the assembly voted Soviet delegate Symyon K. Tsarapkin indicated the resolution would not be needed.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has turned down similar appeals from European and U.S. liberal groups.

Tsarapkin denounced the resolution as "NATO's propagandist arrow launched against the Soviet Union."

Nothing

"Nothing will obstruct the Soviet Union in its efforts to strengthen its defense capacities or in its efforts for peace," he declared.

But despite the Soviet attitude the assembly stayed in session Friday night to complete action on the resolution sought by Canada, Denmark, Iceland, Iran, Japan, Norway, Pakistan and Swden.

They had introduced the resolution a week ago in the assembly's political committee. It was approved in committee last Wednesday after a Soviet-led filibuster failed to prevent the vote.

Speedup

Earlier the assembly gave quick approval to a resolution calling for a speedup of reports from U.N. experts on the effect of radioactive fallout from nuclear tests. The vote was 74 to 0 with 17 abstentions.

A resolution by Communist Czechoslovakia that would have expressed assembly satisfaction to wait until next year for such reports was defeated. The resolution failed to win the required two-thirds majority.

The resolution approved by the assembly calls upon the U.N. scientific committee on the effects of atomic radiation to consider reporting to the assembly in advance of a comprehensive study due to be completed next year.

It also urges the World Meteorlogical Organization, a U.N. specialized agency, to improve its reports on fallout tabulated through a world-wide network of stations.

Bid Fails

In the assembly's main political committee 5 Asian-African nations failed to win quick consideration of an appeal to the nuclear powers to halt voluntarily all test explosions. Western strategy squashed the move.

While a large number of Asian-African nations voted for the appeal to Moscow, they have stressed also their desire to see the United Nations ask all the nuclear powers to suspend all tests.

Seeking to carry out this desire, Ethiopian delegate Tesfaye Gebreegzy proposed that the political committee suspend general debate and act on a resolution urging a voluntary test ban, pending negotiations either on a test ban treaty or complete and general disarmament.

The same strategy was employed by sponsors of the appeal to Moscow on the 50-megaton blast when they pushed their resolution through the committee Wednesday night.

Exchange Of Protests Over Berlin Situation 'Unsatisfactory' To U.S.

Washington (AP) — The State Department Friday night described as unsatisfactory in the U.S. view an exchange of protests in Moscow Friday over Berlin border incidents.

The protests were exchanged by U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Thompson delivered a verbal protest against East German interference with the movement of U.S. civilian officials into East Berlin.

Gromyko replied with a counter protest that U.S. troops in West Berlin were creating a dangerous situation by driving jeeploads of soldiers through the walled barrier into East Berlin.

Canceled

In effect the protests canceled each other out.

"The initial talks at Moscow Friday were from our point of view unsatisfactory," Press Officer Lincoln White told newsmen at the State Department.

White declined to elaborate.

One high official, however, said that the "focus" of the explosive situation "now moves from Berlin to an intergovernmental level where it is under urgent and serious discussion."

Successful

Other government authorities contended that recent U.S. actions on the Berlin border were successful.

American authorities in West Berlin sent armed escorts into Communist East Berlin in support of civilian officials who are under orders to resist East German requests that they present identification documents when crossing the border.

The U.S. actions, authorities here said, were successful for two reasons:

1. They established what the United States has argued all-along — that the Soviet Union is responsible for what the State Department called the unilateral actions of the East Germans in harassing U.S. officials in civilian clothes.

Won't Accept

2. These actions demonstrated that the United States is not prepared to accept East German controls over their movements.

Other officials refused to comment on White's brief statement and especially on his use of the word "initial."

This seemed to indicate that Thompson planned another exchange of views with Gromyko on the Berlin situation.

More Talks

It is entirely possible, officials said, that there will be further talks. But they said Thompson first must get new instructions and then ask for another appointment with Gromyko.

Thompson's report on his talks with Gromyko reached Secretary of State Dean Rusk Friday afternoon.

Earlier White said the appearance of Soviet tanks in East Berlin was an acknowledgement of Russian commitments in the city.

Grand Prize Awarded

Paris (AP) — The French Academy's grand prize for a novel was awarded to Pham Van Ky, a native of Viet Nam, for "Perdre La Demeure," a work in classical style about modernization of Japan in 1870. The writer came to France from Indochina in 1938.

Boy Bruised As Bicycle, Car Hit

Scott, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard O. McDuffee of 2315 So. 56th, received minor injuries when he was struck by a car in front of his home Friday.

Police said young McDuffee was riding a bicycle when he collided with a vehicle driven by Robert L. Marquardt of 500 So. 58th.

According to police reports he was treated by the family physician for minor bruises.

Gagarin Slightly Hurt In An Auto Accident

Moscow (UPI) — Soviet spaceman Yuri Gagarin was injured slightly in an automobile accident while driving his car in southern Russia, it was learned.

Informed sources said Gagarin suffered a blow on the head in the accident, which had no bearing on postponement of his planned trips to India and Italy, the sources said. Those visits were cancelled because of the pressure of other activities, it was reported. There was no indication when the accident occurred.

Special Education Division Hears Osborn

The special education division of District I, Nebraska State Education Association, heard an address by Dr. Leslie Osborn and elected Thane Haskell president Friday.

Haskell is associated with the Beatrice State Home. Other officers are Mrs. Edra Wear of Lincoln, president-elect, and Miss Ethel McCall of Lincoln, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Osborn, who is on the faculty of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, said that due to progress in medical research handicapped children are living a much longer life.

He said we are coming into a new era in medicine in which we are dealing in health, not sickness.

"We are taking a positive, not negative approach," he said. It is better to establish, protect and maintain health than to restore it.

Dr. Osborn said we are coming to the point in medicine when the axiom "prevention is better than the cure," can be made workable.

LBJ Says 'Good Americans' Unwittingly Helping Commies

... BY PLANTING 'SEEDS OF DOUBT'

Gainesville, Fla. (AP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson declared Friday night that "good Americans" are unwittingly aiding the Communists by planting "seeds of doubt" about the loyalty of the nation's leaders and the fairness of its institutions.

Johnson, in a speech at a University of Florida dinner, said the free world has the overwhelming military strength to defeat the Communists — and will use it in a showdown.

He said the whole history of the world since World War II "has made it clear that the Communists cannot compete with us in economic production or purchasing power."

The Communists recognize this, the vice president said, and can be expected to use the strategy of trying to make Americans "lose confidence in their own institutions and their own leaders."

Blinded

Johnson said that "good Americans, blinded by partisanship," unwittingly are planting the seeds which the Communists hope to nurture into "weeds choking out the rich strength of American life." He said they:

"Plant the seed that the judiciary is biased and cannot be relied upon for objective decisions.

"Plant the seed that Congress consists of greedy men who are incapable of putting their country first.

"Plant the seed that the executive branch is loaded with traitors and that distinguished presidents of both parties who have served their country with integrity in war and peace are disloyal or duped."

Can Sit Back

Johnson said "once this train of thought is set in motion, the Communists can sit back and let the nation decay from within. Good Americans, blinded by partisanship, will unwittingly do their work for them.

"The Communists cannot defeat America, but America can be defeated by irresponsible, arrogant partisanship."

Robert Welch, head of the John Birch Society, has criticized President Kennedy and questioned the loyalty of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. He also has called for the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren and has leveled some attacks at Congress.

Has the Power

Johnson — as have other administration speakers—emphasized that the United States has the military power to destroy Russia if war should come. He said the Soviets realize this but are "taking one of the biggest gambles in history — that we will not use our strength."

"And this gamble could well go down in history as the greatest miscalculation ever made," he said.

Johnson said the Communists had abandoned all pretense of trying to win over uncommitted nations to their side by the promise of a better life.

Dedicated

"Openly and without apology Communism has dedicated itself to the rule of fear and force," he said. "By building a wall of concrete through Berlin, they admitted that people can be kept under Communism only through force.

"By launching their atomic tests in the atmosphere, they admitted they had no respect for humanity or its opinion. And by trying to wreck the United Nations secretariat, they admitted that they do not want an organization to maintain the peace.

"These actions do not reveal anything new about Communists aims and goals — nothing that we did not know before. But the brazenness with which they have ripped away the thin veil of hypocrisy makes it apparent that they are determined to bring some matters to a head, how many and to what extent we do not know."

Firmness

Johnson said that the "competent firmness" of the free world already has produced results.

"The boastful tone of the Kremlin has begun to crack —as has the monolithic unity of the Communist Bloc. The newspaper headlines have made it clear that all is not peace and harmony within the Soviet world.

"If we continue our course of steadfastness—neither provocative nor afraid—we can look forward to the survival of freedom."

Dorsey Official Says IDA Conserves Capital

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The primary advantage of using Nebraska's new industrial development act for plant expansion is to "conserve capital for use in other ways," community leaders were told Friday.

Speaking at concluding sessions of the governor's community betterment and industrial development conference was Dr. Charles Boswell, vice president of Dorsey Laboratories of Lincoln.

Dorsey plans to use IDA machinery to finance construction of a new $3 million plant northeast of the city.

Test Pending

The act itself is currently being tested in the State Supreme Court.

IDA, Boswell noted, allows 100% financing.

This frees capital which Dorsey will divert to research and development, investment in new equipment, promotion, acquisition of products and additional facilities, he pointed out.

In addition, it will allow Dorsey to cuts its 5-year program to "two or 3 years," Boswell declared.

Dorsey, a pharmaceutical laboratory, intends to more than double its present sales within 5 years, the Lincolnite declared.

Create Jobs

This, he noted, will create new jobs in the Capital City.

IDA authorizes governmental units to issue revenue bonds to acquire property for lease to industry.

Boswell spoke as one of 4 members of a panel examining Nebraska's business climate.

Herbert Heath of Omaha, manager of Western Electric Co., told community leaders that "a conscientious job of budgeting in state and local governments is a most important factor in future industrial growth."

Heath said Nebraska's industrial advantages include a central market area; opportunities for geographical dispersion; availability of water, power and natural gas; highway progress; fair wages, and reasonable taxation.

Present state labor laws, he said, are "fair to both labor and industry."

Senators, Commended

Earl Luff, president of the Lincoln Steel Corp., commended the legislative efforts of the 1961 Unicameral.

Gov. Frank Morrison characterized as the state's chief industrial advantage "a dedicated, wholesome people who want to work."

Earlier, a Denver investment banker suggested formation of a small business investment company in Nebraska to help businesses seeking capital.

Richard D. Gibson, vice president of Boettcher & Co., offered the proposal, noting that the company could be augmented by a loan from the federal Small Business Administration.

Farm Officials Attempting To Steady Grains

Washington (AP)—The Agriculture Department moved Friday to steady faltering grain markets with a statement setting forth conditions under which it will sell government-owned surplus corn and sorghum grains under this year's emergency feed-grain program.

This program gave the department authority to sell grain surpluses at just about whatever prices it wished. The purpose of this authority is to keep non-participating farmers from benefitting from any price-boosting influence the grain program might have.

In a statement, the department said it will continue to sell corn and sorghum grains at market prices but not at levels below generally prevailing prices received by farmers last fall for 1960 grain crops.

Setting Minimum

This statement had the effect of setting a minimum price, the absence of which had just about brought commercial sales to a standstill. Prospective buyers were wary lest government sales be priced below those they paid for grain. Traders had been critical of what they called the uncertainty of the situation.

The feed-grain program will pay about $750 million to farmers for reducing acreages of corn and sorghum grain. In addition to payments, these farmers can get price supports considerably above last year's support rate.

Non-participating farmers get nothing except prices available in the markets.

Last year farmers received an average of 99 cents a bushel for corn in October, 87 cents in November, 91 cents in December, 96 cents in January, $1 in February and $1.01 in March.

Grain sorghum prices to growers averaged $1.42 per hundredweight in October and November, $1.41 in December, $1.46 in January, $1.48 in February and $1.52 in March.

New U.N. Gavel

United Nations (AP) — Iceland has presented General Assembly President Mongi Slim of Tunisia a new gavel to replace the one broken by Slim's predecessor, Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, in bringing Soviet Premier Khrushchev to order in a hot Assembly debate a year ago.

Expect 200 Delegates

Kuala Lumpur (UPI) — More than 200 delegates from 21 countries will participate in a ministerial meeting of the Colombo plan, it was announced.

Falls City To Host Two Conventions

Falls City (UPI) — Two district conventions are scheduled here Sunday.

An estimated 250 persons from Nemaha, Richardson, Pawnee and Johnson Counties will attend the District 13 convention of the American Legion and its auxiliary.

About 100 women are expected for the District II conference of the Nebraska Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Good morning! This beautiful fall weather seems to be enticing people into doing some very special entertaining.

One of those special events on my agenda this week is the canape party tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Stebbins honoring Lt. Col. and Mrs. Thomas H. Powell and the husbands and wives of the 370th bomb squadron. Also invited are Col. and Mrs. Thomas G. Corbin, Col. and Mrs. Clifford J. Moore, Col. and Mrs. Walter W. Berg, Col. and Mrs. M. J. Burke, and Col. Howard E. Conklin who will join Mr. and Mrs.. Stebbins in honoring Lt. Col. and Mrs. Powell.

Still another lovely party was given by Lt. Col. and Mrs. Peter L. Coffield in their home last Saturday night. The Coffields entertertained everal of their friends at canapes and dinner.

At the home of Lt. and Mrs. Richard Arens, an informal party was given last Saturday night for several of their friends. Guests enjoying the Arens hospitality were Capt. and Mrs. Merle Hinde, Capt. and Mrs. James Whitehurst, Lt. and Mrs. Jerry Eustace, Lt. and Mrs. Roger Flanik, Lt. and Mrs. Henry Grogan, Lt. and Mrs. Fred Tanner, Lt. and Mrs. Donald Horn, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Stewart, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Bowers.

Recently in Lincoln for a staff visit was Col. Gordon K. Stallings, assistant commandant for Area F. headquarters at Maxwell AFB, Montgomery, Ala., where he is currently stationed.

The officers of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps at the University of Nebraska entertained at a stag dinner in Col. Stallings honor on the first day of his visit. The second evening the Air Force ROTC officers and their wives hosted a dinner at the Lincoln Air Force Base Officers Club.

Recent week-end guests at the home of Maj. and Mrs. Roland Fox were Mr. and Mrs. Harold P. Farber and their children, Claudia, James and Billy. On Saturday evening, they celebrated the birthdays of Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Farber with canapes and dinner at the Officers Club. Joining the two couples for the evening were Col. and Mrs. Frank Sullivan and Maj. and Mrs. Warren Paul.

Enjoying the recent Officers Wives Club-sponsored Beaux Arts Ball were Maj. and Mrs. Anthony Minnick and their week-end guests, Capt. and Mrs. Arnold Nollenberg. The Nollenbergs, former LAFB personnel, are presently stationed at Offutt AFB, Omaha.

Attending the 10th reunion and Homecoming Game of Texas A & M this last week end were Capt. and Mrs. Fred Henry.

The Texas A & M-TCU game turned out to be an event for some jubilant celebrating, anyway as far as Mrs. Henry is concerned. Her Alma Mater is Texas Christian University which beat Texas A & M of which her husband is an alumnus.

Recent elections of the Sigma Phi Epsilon Mothers Club honored Mrs. Charles Fries with the presidency. Mrs. Fries son is a member of the fraternity at the University of Nebraska.

A social get together of the Airmen's Wives Club was held last Monday night at the USO. Refreshments were served by the NCO Wives and there were awards for the wife who brought the most guests; for the wife with the longest Air Force tenure (13 years); and for the wife who was stationed at the most bases. Included among the award winners were Mrs. Jaunita Stark, Mrs. Billy Keifer, Mrs. Loretha Tucker, Mrs. Mary Lidsey, and Mrs. Josephine Rzeznik.

Then on Thursday evening, Mrs. Robert H. John was hostess at two tables of bridge consisting of the members of the Medical Wives Group. Guests were Mrs. Jon Igelman, Mrs. Bertram D. Targrove, Mrs. John W. O'Shea, Mrs. John Barron, Mrs. Ellis Weaver, Mrs. Robert Broome, and Mrs. Niel Chapman. Winning high, second and low for the evening were Mrs. John, Mrs. Chapman, and Mrs. Targrove.

On October 24th at 10:00 o'clock, Mrs. Rex M. Wallace entertained at an informal coffee to renew old acquaintances, and to introduce a newcomer. Guests on hand to enjoy the Halloween decorations and refreshments were Mrs. Gordon Luikart, Mrs. Jack Burke, Mrs. Sidney Fix, Mrs. Edward Gerkey, Mrs. William A. WHY GROW OLD?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A windmill looking for Don Quixote? Not quite—but you could say she's a pretty girl looking for a Don Juan for she's doing a waist exercise to make her slim, trim and desirable. She'll touch the floor if she can with each hand.

The Question Box

Q. "I am just 13 and I have measurements of bust 33 inches, waist 26 and hips 33. All of the kids I know have 20-and 21-inch waists. Could you send me some waist reducing exercises?"

A. Your measurements are normal for a girl of your age. Teen-agers just naturally slim down through the waistline. However, this happens to some sooner than to others. Your friends may also have very small bones or be underweight. Don't worry. However, waist slimming exercises won't do any harm. If you, or any of my readers, would like to have mine, which have been tested in my reducing classes, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Q. "My daughter is 18 years old and has lovely teeth. The dentist checked them just recently and they are 100 per cent perfect—and yet she has mouth odor. She brushes often and uses a mouth wash and still has it. Is it possible to have something internal cause this?"

A. Diseased tonsils, adenoids or sinuses can cause bad breath. So can indigestion. Your daughter might have one of these in a mild form and not be especially uncomfortable. I suggest that you see your family physician.

Q. "Please help me! I have a sway back, very much so. It is conspicuous and makes me look terrible in my clothes. It also makes me very self-conscious."

A. You can overcome sway back to a great extent if you will work seriously to do so. This exercise will help. Lie on the floor on your back with your knees bent and your arms resting on the floor. Press the center of your back down against the floor. Hold while you count to 10. Relax muscles. Continue.

Q. "My problem is my weight and my gifure. I am 15 years old and weigh 130 pounds. I am 5 feet 9 inches tall, large boned. Please answer in a hurry. I think I should lose."

A. If you have a large frame, you are far from overweight. In fact, even if you have a medium frame, you should weigh about 136 pounds.

Entertain At Vacation Party

What better incentives can you have for a party than the teachers' convention and Halloween which combined inspired four young seventh graders to entertain on Friday evening at the Lincoln Country Club.

Hostesses to nearly 60 of their classmates were Debbie Magee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Magee; Joyce Greenholtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Greenholtz; Janet Maxwell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Maxwell; and Judy Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Boyd.

Dear Abby—

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married only a few months, and my biggest problem is what my husband did to our car. He fixed it so that it makes a loud noise when we go down the street, and it shimmies when it gets to a certain speed. We attract a lot of attention, which I do not like. I asked him to fix the car so it will be quiet and steady, but he says he likes it this way. Fooling with cars is his hobby. I am 19 and he is 18. Can you help me?

BOBBI

DEAR BOBBI: Your husband is very juvenile for a married man. If you have been married only a "few months," and your wishes are already being ignored, prepare yourself for a noisy, rocky future.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married man. About two months ago I received a letter from a girl I once went with before I met my wife. (She got my address from a relative). This girl and I had a pretty big romance, but it blew over. I didn't answer her letter because I didn't want to start up with her again, being married and all.

Then she wrote another letter. This one was terribly mushy. She told me how much she loved me and missed me, and reminded me of several things I would sooner forget. She asked me to write to her. I don't want any more of her letters coming to my house. And I don't want to answer. What should I do?

PAST BROUGHT UP

DEAR PAST: Answer her letter. Tell her you are happily married now, and she should consider the past a closed chapter. Sign off with best wishes.

☆ ☆ ☆

CONFIDENTIAL TO EXHAUSTED DAUGHTER: Why is it that the world is so kind and sympathetic to people who are blind, but they treat deaf people as though they were just plain stupid? Only the hard-of-hearing can know the loneliness, frustration and humiliation endured by the deaf. Hearing aids have helped many. But they can't help everybody. Please have more patience, compassion and understanding for your mother's condition.

☆ ☆ ☆

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dinner-Dance

The Naval and Marine Officers Wives Club will entertain at its annual dinner-dance Saturday evening at the Lincoln Air Force Base Officers Club.

Guests at the affair, which will begin with a social hour at 6:30 o'clock, will include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Denney of Fairbury, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hendry, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Loisel, Dr. and Mrs. F. I. Rose and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Smith.

What Makes a Quality Evergreen?

Don Shultz, Superintendent, and Landscape Nurseryman Bob Campbell, owner of Campbell's Nurseries, looking over some quality upright Junipers ready for digging and fall planting.

Quality is not an accident! Years of "know-how" go into the growing of quality evergreens. In the above picture these quality Cannarti Junipers have been grown for 5 and 6 years, starting with a small graft in the greenhouse, one year in the lath house, into the field where they are staked and trimmed, sprayed and cultivated until they attain perfection and are sold for some quality landscape.

In the background of the above photo, one can see a few of our larger Austrian Pines ready for digging and replanting. Fine specimen trees!

We at Campbell's are proud of our Evergreens and encourage you to come to our Nursery and see them growing in our fields or see them Balled and Burlapped in our modern lath houses.

If you have a landscaping problem feel free to come to the Nursery and let us help you with the solution.

KIMBERLY HEIGHTS

So you think you have been busy? The social schedule of these Lincoln visitors has really been filled. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reichel arrived a week ago Monday from Westminster, Calif., and they have been on the go ever since visiting friends and relatives in Lincoln.

Take the events of just one day, for example. Mrs. Reichel was honored at a morning coffee followed by a luncheon given by her husband's niece, Mrs. Robert Alley. Following a busy afternoon, Mrs. Reichel returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sitzman where she and Mr. Reichel have been house guests during their Lincoln visit.

However, the whole family was off again shortly for a steak fry at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alley. Present, in addition to the honored guests, were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sitzman and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kramer, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Talbott, and their son Larry, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Eisenbarth and their sons Johnny and Donny.

SOUTH HILLS

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Gallup were Mrs. Gallup's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Simpson of Omaha.

On the road this week end are Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Hardekopf who are traveling to Grand Island for a visit. They will be the house guests of Mrs. Hardekopf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Manka, and Mr. Hardekopf's mother, Mrs. August Hardekopf.

FIENE HEIGHTS

The house guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donavon W. Luedke this week is Mrs. Luedke's mother, Mrs. L. I. Hines of Spencer. Mrs. Hines arrived last Saturday and will return to Spencer this week end. Incidentally, grandmother coming to visit was quite an occasion for all the little Luedkes, but especially so for Sherri, who is only two months old, and who was introduced to Mrs. Hines for the first time.

HOLLINGSWORTH HEIGHT

Dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Stroh tonight will be Mr. Stroh's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maseman, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hardigree and daughter Debbie, of Sioux City, Iowa. The Hardigrees are the week-end house guests of Mrs. Hardigree's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maseman.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

Last week end proved quite interesting for Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Thomas and their children, Mike, Julie, and Michelle. The entire family journeyed to Hastings to visit Mrs. Thomas' mother, Mrs. Floyd Arvanette and Mr. Thomas's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thomas. While there, they attended the Hastings Homecoming game and visited with many friends.

MOLLY DOW

Witches, black cats and messy jack-o-lanterns will be coming up this week. Although there will be few Southeasterners out trick-or-treating, they will be having Halloween parties this week-end.

Practicing day and night to learn the cheers are many anxious junior girls. Why? Because the preliminary cheerleading tryouts are being held next Thursday after school. The finalists who will be announced the next day will then nervously exhibit their skills in front of the whole school, Nov. 6.

In order to try out they must know the eight basic cheers and be members of Pep Club. They will be graded on their ability to do cheers and how well they will represent Southeast. The judges are the Varsity Cheerleaders, some teachers and delegates from S Club and Student Council. Last year's Reserve Cheerleaders will tap the winners at the Chili Feed, Nov. 14.

Congratulations to the new sophomore Student Council representatives. They are Sandi Dean, Pam Hatheway, Kathy Henderson, Kitty McManus, Ron Pfeifer, Marsha Wilson, and Steve Yaussi, alternate.

Next Saturday, Southeast members are going to Kearney where they will participate in the state Student Council convention. The theme this year is "Have Student Council—Will Lead." The official delegates are Bob Harris and Dianne Quinn.

Friday and Saturday, publication staff members will attend the NHSPA convention for all high schools throughout the state at the University of Nebraska. Shield members, Barb Beckman, Jane Crabill, Alan Embury, Judy Tanner and Kathy Weber, will conduct a clinic on yearbook layouts. Paul Bateman of Lincoln will help them.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	3 ♥	3 ♠
4 ♥	4 ♠	5 ♥	Pass
Pass	5 ♠

Opening lead — king of hearts.

The preemptive bid is a defensive rather than an offensive weapon. Its prime purpose is to crowd the bidding space of the opponents and make it difficult for them to find their best contract. It is expected to succeed quite often—and, in fact, it does.

Take East's three heart bid, for instance, and observe the effect it has on South. He has no comfortable bid to make at this point. He can double for takeout, overcall in spades or clubs, or adopt the conservative course of passing.

South knows that any bid he makes can go wrong. This is not so surprising, because problems of this sort frequently are created by a preemptive bid.

In the actual case, South overcalled with three spades, a somewhat daring bid to make with a four-card suit. He then got to five spades and West led the king of hearts. The subsequent play is not without interest, because it gave East an opportunity to use a rare defensive play, the Deschapelles Coup.

West continued with a heart which declarer ruffed. South then led the K-Q-J of spades, overtaking the jack, and played the ten to draw West's last trump. He then led a club to the king, which held, and returned the ten, West and dummy playing low. This forced East to win with the ace and produced the following position:

East now led the king of diamonds, making the only play that could defeat the contract. If he had led the jack of hearts or any diamond but the king, South would have made the hand. The king of diamonds return prevented South from cashing his clubs.

'Parking Lot' Legal Skirmish Continues

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The Lancaster County Commissioners' free parking lot near the Municipal Airport Terminal Building was being rushed to completion amid a new legal skirmish Friday.

The Lincoln Airport Authority made a new attempt to restrain the commissioners from constructing the lot, but then withdrew its amended petition after the Lancaster District Court advised further hearing on the matter wasn't possible for a week or more.

The lot will have been completed by then, Authority Atty. Henry Holst observed in withdrawing without prejudice to filing further legal action.

County crews began work on the parking project almost immediately when the court refused earlier this week to grant a temporary restraining order against construction.

Co. Atty. Paul Douglas successfully argued the commissioners were within their rights "to work the shoulders of any county road" and observed there's "no law against parking there all day."

'Facade'

Holst contended the construction was a facade to provide free parking for patrons of a privately-operated restaurant in the Terminal Building and was interference with the Authority's contract with another corporation operating a pay parking lot at the airport.

Following consultation with Holst later Friday, Chairman Leo Beck Jr. said the Authority will take a new legal approach to protect its rights and those of Lincoln taxpayers.

"The pay parking lot is part of the Authority's operations to make the municipal airport self-supporting," Beck said. "Loss of revenue because of the county's free lot will mean the Lincoln taxpayers will be picking up the difference to operate its airport facility."

Statute Cited

Beck and Holst said the next step may be to seek a declaratory judgment on a state statute they say gives municipalities and airport authorities jurisdiction over streets, roads and highways adjacent to or near airports or restricted landing areas.

The cited statute:

"For purpose of management, government and direction of public use, such part of all highways, roads, streets, avenues, boulevards and territory as adjoins or lies within 500 feet of any airport or restricted landing area acquired or maintained under provisions of (cited sections of state aviation code and airport authority act) shall be under the control and management of the municipality."

If municipal or airport authority jurisdiction is declared over the County road adjoining the airport in a court test, Beck said the Authority would proceed with legal steps to require the commissioners to remove the parking lot and restore the road to its former state.

Any new legal action will have to be remedial, Beck suggested. Preventive efforts have been unsuccessful.

The "parking lot" or "rocked shoulders" (depending upon the two viewpoints) will provide parking space for some 40 cars.

Acting County Engineer Hugh Dillon estimates the project cost at $400, but expects to have final cost figures early next week.

Employment In Nebraska Drops 5,900

State job totals declined in September.

Nebraska's employed totaled 644,100 at the month's end, a drop of 5,900 workers from the previous month.

According to the employment division of the Nebraska department of labor, the decline is largely due to the seasonal drop in farm work and the completion of large construction projects.

Agricultural employment lost 9,000 workers and construction 1,400.

Government Gains

Government, however gained 6,800 workers. The majority of these were workers returning to jobs in public schools.

Over the year gains in employment are minor, totaling about 700 workers, which is primarily due to the addition of 3,000 agricultural workers.

The total number of jobless workers in the state declined to 16,700, a drop of 2,300 for September, but this figure shows 3,900 more unemployed workers than a year ago at this time.

The Omaha and Lincoln areas showed slight gains in total employment due to the opening of schools. This effects an employment gain of about 950 in Omaha and 1,850 in Lincoln.

Retailers Group Elects Lockwood

C. Russell Lockwood, Lincoln, of the Nebraska Petroleum Council, Friday was elected president of the Nebraska Federated Retailers Association.

Other officers elected include George T. Wruck, Omaha, Associated Retailers of Omaha, vice president; George Watters, Lincoln, Nebraska Petroleum Marketers, treasurer, and Vernon Scofield, Lincoln, Nebraska Press Association, secretary.

Cora Mae Briggs, Lincoln, of the Nebraska Pharmaceutical Association, is the immediate past president.

Women 'Over Top' In Fund Drive

The women's division went over the top Friday as the United Community Chest and Red Cross Appeal hit 80% of its goal.

The women, led by Mrs. Gene Christianson, reported $1,131 Friday to bring their total to $15,165. That's $123 above their goal.

Overall, the campaign total now is $541,315, at the end of the second week of reporting. The goal is $675,904.

A total of $11,731 was reported Friday in the Employee Division, which brings them to within 23% of the $171,000 goal. Jack Trombla's division has a total of $130,839.

The 4 employee divisions reported the following amounts:

Industrial and automotive, Jack Hyland, general: $3,044 for a total to date of $22,294 or 64% of a $34,989 goal.

Business and professional, Burt Folsom, general: $3,749 for a total to date of $23,143 or 78% of a $29,580 goal.

Foods and services, B. G. Fullerton, general: $1,710 for a total to date of $17,258 or 88% of a $19,576 goal.

Public departments, Charles Sayre, general: $2,128 for a total to date of $68,042 or 80% of an $87,218 goal.

Advance gifts division, Myron Weil, chairman, brought in an additional $27,202, which puts the division within 23% of the $190,000 goal with a total to date of $146,442.

The $13,430 reported Friday put the unit firms within 16% of their $299,862 goal. They have a total of $248,868.

The "dutch treat" luncheon meeting was opened with an invocation by Dr. J. Ford Forsythe of First-Plymouth Congregational Church. The next report meeting will be held at noon Tuesday at the Chamber of Commerce.

A Shortage Of Flu Vaccine Develops

Washington (AP)— Unusual and unexpected public demand for influenza vaccine has caused a nationwide shortage in the product, the Public Health Service said.

The service said manufacturers have produced twice as much flu vaccine this year as in recent years but still have been unable to meet the demand.

When the increased demand became evident, manufacturers moved to meet the situation but it takes 90 days to produce the finished vaccine.

Meanwhile, the service said very little influenza has been reported around the nation.

6 NU Seniors Named To Biz Ad Honorary

Car Flips And Burns; Three Escape Injury

Three Lincoln youths abandoned their car in a hurry Friday when it went out of control on loose gravel, flipped over and burned at 82nd and Pioneers.

Firemen called to the scene identified the driver of the car as Peter Klein of 6001 Vine. Klein was accompanied by two friends when the accident occurred but no one was injured, firemen said.

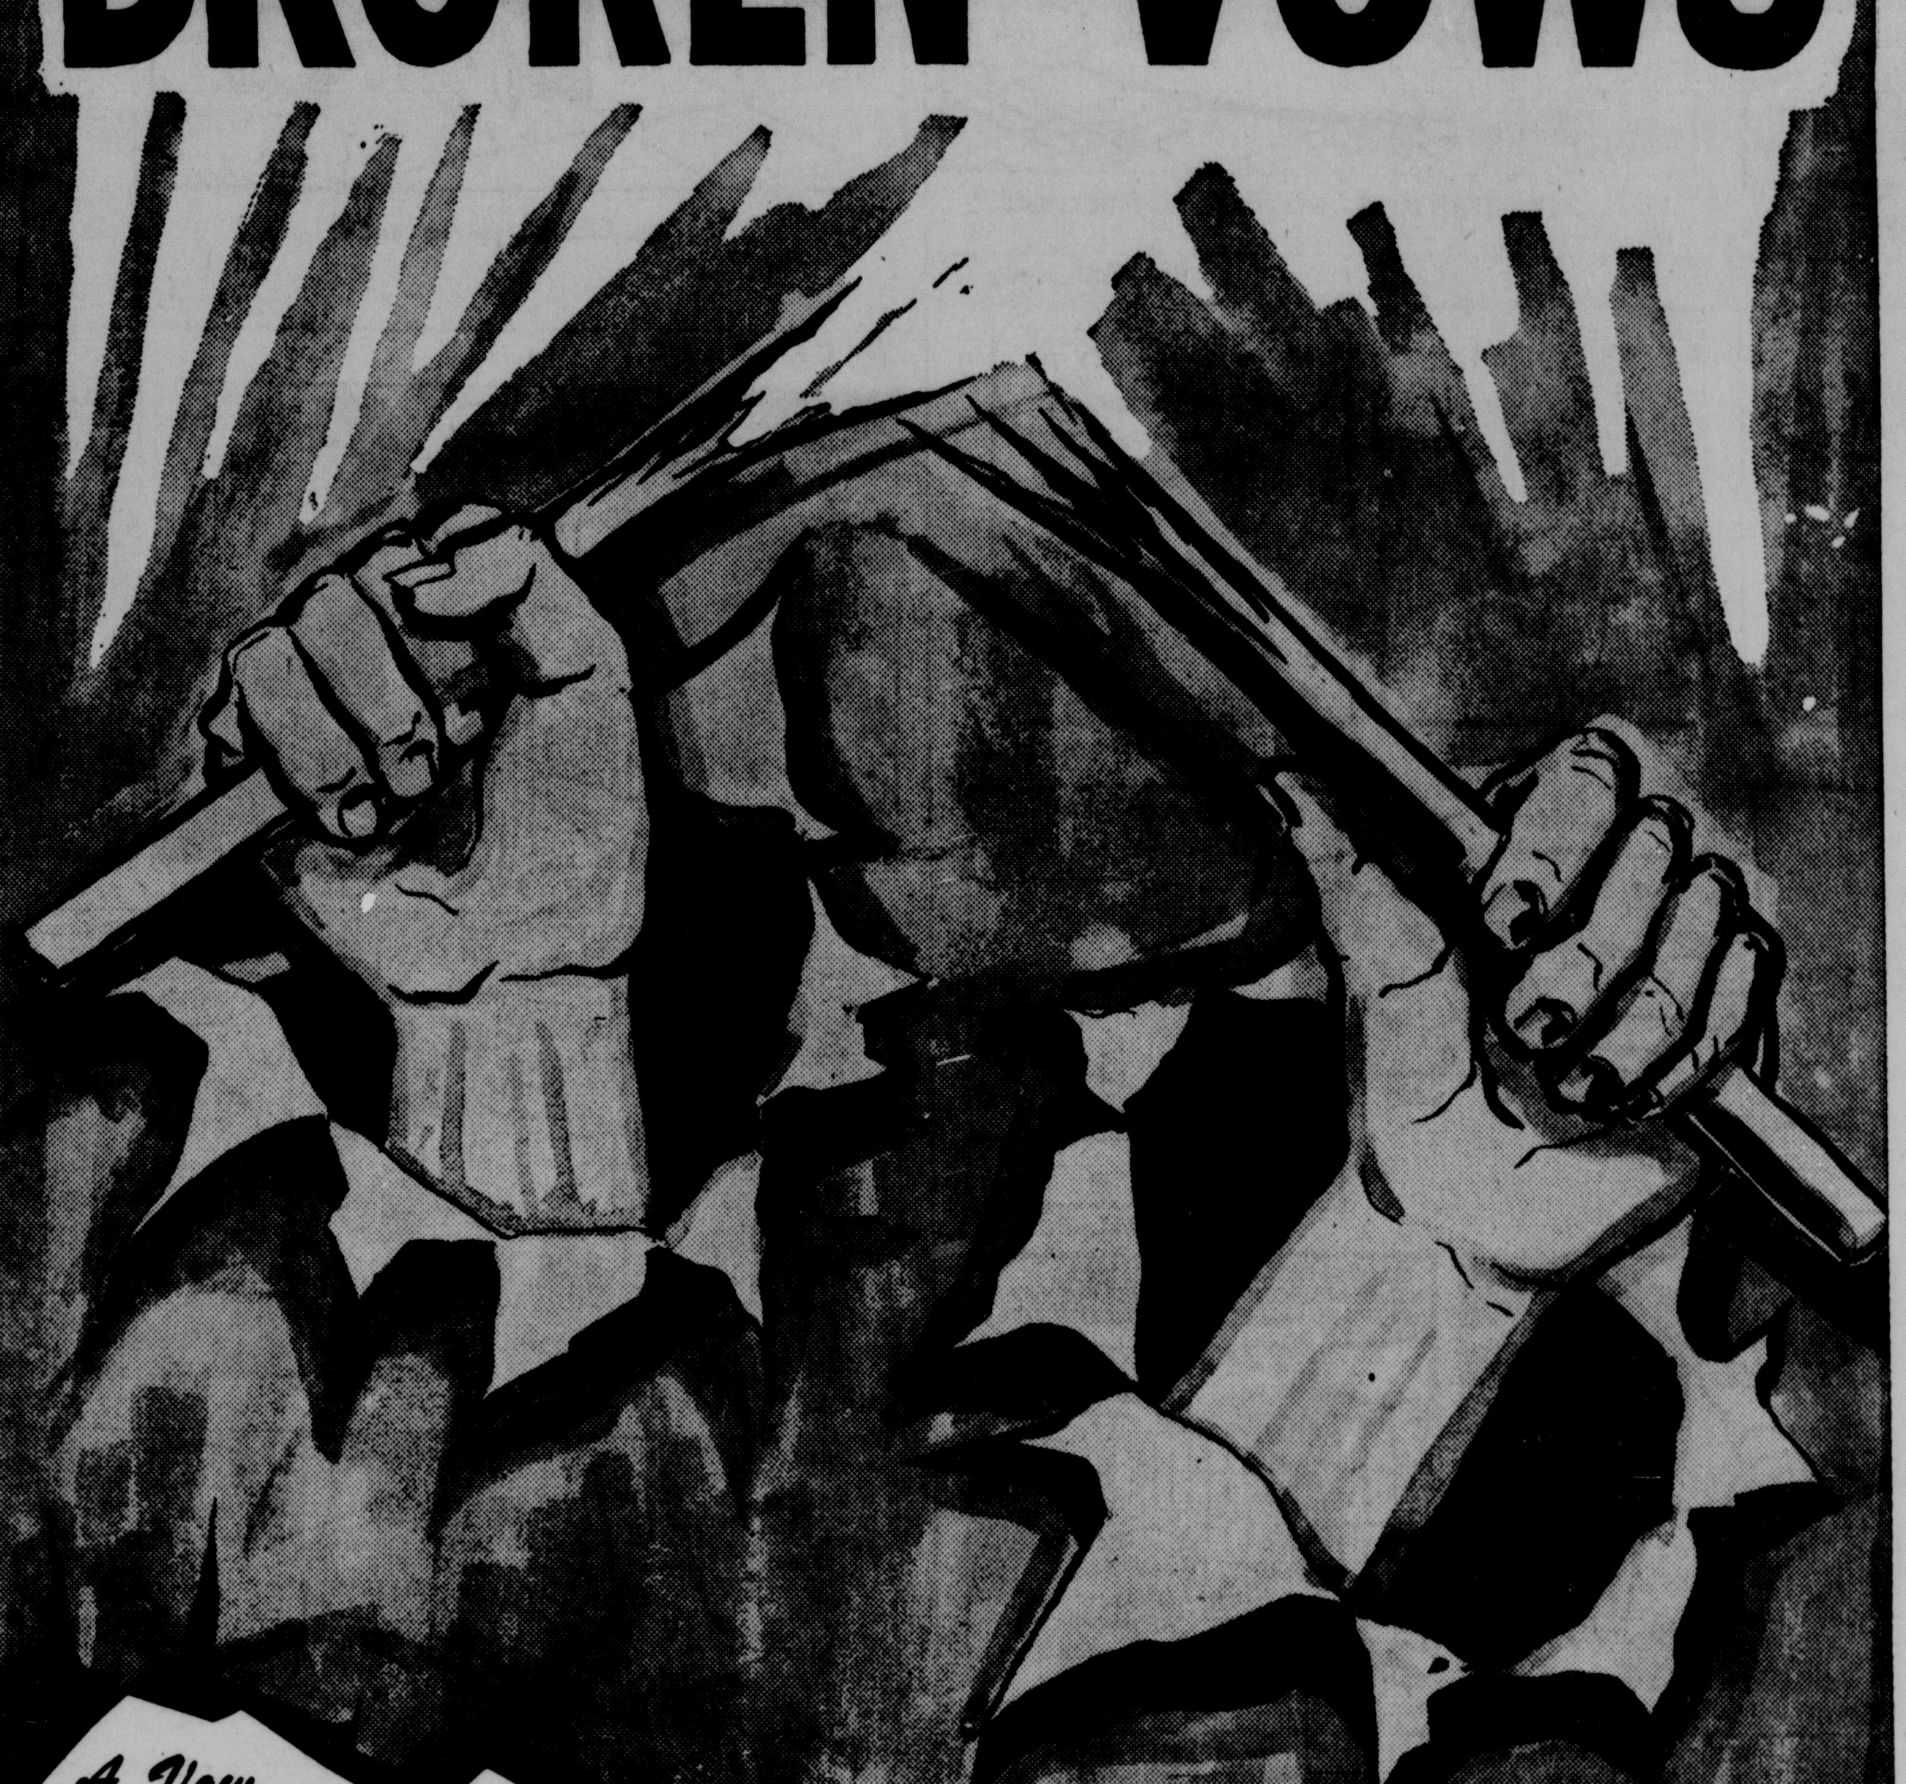
BROKEN VOWS



A Vow Is A Serious Thing

Our promise and your performance reveal the quality of your soul.

A promise will make a friend but performance will keep him. Are you keeping your marriage vows, your vows to your church or synagog? When you make vows to God, do you keep them or do you go AWOL on Him? "When thou shalt vow a vow unto the Lord thy God, thou shalt not slack to pay it, for the Lord thy God will surely require it of thee." Faithful performance of good vows strengthens character, honors God and makes a better citizen.

So They May See == Psalm 17 == So They May Hear

HEAR THE RIGHT, O Lord, attend unto my cry, give ear unto my prayer, that goeth not out of feigned lips.

2. Let my sentence come forth from thy presence; let thine eyes behold the things that are equal.

3. Thou has proved mine heart; thou hast visited me in the night; thou has tried me, and shalt find nothing; I am purposed that my mouth shall not transgress.

4. Concerning the works of men, by the word of thy lips I have kept me from the paths of the destroyer.

5. Hold up my goings in thy paths, that my footsteps slip not.

6. I have called upon thee, for thou wilt hear me, O God: incline thine ear unto me, and hear my speech.

7. Shew thy marvellous lovingkindness, O thou that savest by thy right hand them which put their trust in thee from those that rise up against them.

KEEP ME as the apple of the eye, hide me under the shadow of thy wings,

9. From the wicked that oppress me, from my deadly enemies, who compass me about.

10. They are inclosed in their own fat: with their mouth they speak proudly.

11. They have now compassed us in our steps: they have set their eyes bowing down to the earth;

12. Like as a lion that is greedy of his prey, and as it were a young lion lurking in secret places.

13. Arise, O Lord, disappoint him, cast him down: deliver my soul from the wicked, which is thy sword.

14. From men which are thy hand, O Lord, from men of the world, which have their portion in this life, and whose belly thou fillest with thy hid treasure: they are full of children and leave the rest of their substance to their babes.

15. As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. 27-7 Peru Win Earns NCC Title

By BILL HORD
Star Sports Writer

Peru — Peru State's Bobcats, a team which has used opponents' mistakes to good advantage this season, came up with the same formula here Friday night to whip Wayne State 27-7.

The triumph clinched Peru's second straight Nebraska College Conference championship. A capacity crowd at the Oak Bowl saw the Bobcats finish 5-0-1 in the NCC.

Wayne, last threat for the NCC crown, is now 3-2 and meets Kearney next week to decide second place.

End Tom Neal, a former Lincoln Pius X star, put the Bobcats into a lead they never relinquished in the first quarter.

Peru tackle Ken Dostal blocked a Wayne field goal try and Neal raced 73 yards with the loose ball to score.

Midway through the second quarter, Peru guard Bill Lawlor recovered a Wildcat fumble on Wayne's 9 and halfback Ron Kelley scored on the next play.

Moments later, the Bobcats marched 45 yards with Kelley scoring from the one. This drive, in which Peru got its initial first down of the night, started after a short Wayne punt and gave the Bobcats a 20-0 lead at half.

Another short punt by Wayne set up Peru for a 43-yard TD drive in the 3rd quarter and a 27-0 lead. Leonard Kinzer scored this time from the 9.

A 5-yard pass from Don Calvert to Stan Schaules finally got Wayne on the scoreboard with 40 seconds left in the game.

Peru, now 7-0-1 on the season, bids for an unbeaten campaign in homecoming next week against Panhandle (Okla.) A&M.

Vaughn Heroics Snap NU String

. . . McCLOUGHAN STARS FOR HUSKERS

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Writer

Iowa State's freshman football team socked Nebraska with a furious ground game and used its defense at the right times to snap a 6-game Cornhusker winning streak Friday, 18-0.

Halkback Ton. Vaughn, a 193-pound bomb from Troy, O., was the No. 1 villain for the budding Cyclones. He got a pair of touchdowns and contributed over half of Iowa State's 321 yards on the ground.

The loss was the first for a Nebraska freshman team since the Husker nubbins dropped both games in 1957.

It was the first defeat for Husker frosh coach Jack Braley, whose debut in a perfect season last year was a 7-6 victory over Iowa State.

Nebraska had just a few bright spots, the big one halfback Kent McCloughan, the speedy 190 pounder from Broken Bow.

McCloughan was Nebraska's only steady ground gainer, picking up 73 yards in 15 trips. He also caught two passes for 41 yards, but couldn't shake loose for the distance.

No Big Plays

Iowa State scored touchdowns in each of the first 3 quarters. A sparse wind-blown crowd saw Nebraska get close on several occasions, but fail to make the big play at the right time.

Vaughn, who carried 26 times for 162 net yards, put the Cyclones ahead 12-0 in the first half.

He picked up a Nebraska fumble to start the Cyclones' first scoring thrust—a 55-yard effort—in the first quarter and made it good on a 26-dash up the middle.

Vaughn took a pitchout and raced 63 yards down the left sideline midway through the second quarter. He wasn't touched in outrunning the Husker defense.

Cox Helps

Fullback Mike Cox, the heralded Cyclone freshman from Ames, set up the final I-State score by picking off a Nebraska pass and returning 15 yards to the NU 38.

Again it took Vaughn to get the Cyclone yearlings in range for the TD. He sprinted 16 yards for a first down on the 21, carried 6 for another first down on the 8 and then bulled to the 4.

Vaughn's sub, Harold Huff, carried it over from the 4 two plays later.

NU Fizzles

Nebraska's biggest threats came in the first half, but both fizzled with the goal line in range.

A penalty got the Huskers to the I-State 15 in the game's opening minutes, but the Cyclone line stiffened to thwart the drive.

Passing by quarterback Doug Tucker of Davenport, Ia., put Nebraska on the I-State 12 with time running out in the first half.

Links Fall Feet Short; Benson Prevails, 7-6

. . . LHS MISSES ON PAT, TOUCHDOWN DRIVE

By MIKE COONEY
Star Sports Writer

Lincoln High's hopes for an upset victory over Omaha Benson died on the Bunnie one-foot line Friday night as Benson took a 7-6 victory at the Public Schools Oval.

The Links outfought and outplayed the highly regarded visitors but lost by the margin of two feet.

The first foot came midway in the second quarter after coach Jim Sommer's charges scored their only touchdown. LeRoy Hunter banged up the middle on the extra point try and was piled up inches short of the goal by the center of the Bunnie line.

The second costly foot occured in the 3rd quarter. The Links marched to the Bunnie one-foot line, where Hunter hit the middle on 4th down and was stopped short.

Benson scored first with 8:08 remaining in the second period. An 8-yard Chris Beutler to Grant Simmons pass play covered the final distance in a 65 yard drive. Beutler added the point after with a sweep.

Lee Wagner fired the comeback with a 72-yard return of the Benson kickoff following the Bonnie touchdown.

The 155 junior halfback took the kick on his 10 yard line, went straight up the field to the 40, then suddenly cut to the west sidelines with 3 Benson tacklers in hot pursuit. Grant Simmons finally hauled the speedster down from behind on the Benson 17.

After 3 running plays gained 7 yards quarterback Dennis Trippel took to the air. He hit end Ron Kelly in the end zone with a perfect pass to pull the Links within one point at 7-6. Hunter then made his ill-fated attempt to add the extra point.

The Links threatened twice more in the second half. The first trip was the 65-yard drive that fell short by a foot.

Another opportunity was missed when Mark Firestone fumbled after catching a Don Stacy pass on the Bunnie 8. Guard Mike Kennedy recovered for Benson.

Kennedy Tough

Kennedy, a 180 pound senior who backs up the line on defense was a thorn in Lincoln High's side all night. The hard nosed linebacker ranged far to either side from his linebacking position to repeatedly stop Link's running threats.

The Lincoln High line, spearheaded by guard Willard Shepard and tackle George Yant, played outstanding ball. They made a goal-line stand of their own in the 4th quarter to stop Benson on 4 tries from the 7 yard line.

The win gave Benson a 7-1 mark for the season. The Bunnies have one game remaining with Omaha North.

Lincoln High's record now stands at 1-7.

Kearney—Kearney's Antelopes raced to a 14-0 halftime lead then coasted to a 27-0 win over Nebraska Wesleyan here Friday night. The win kept alive Kearney hopes of a second place finish in the Nebraska College Conference football race.

Steve Krause set the Kearney scoring machine in motion with a 6-yard scoring juant up the middle with 2:00 left in the first quarter. Krause's run climaxed a 70 yard drive.

Kearney scored again just before half-time. The Antelopes got their chance when Jim Irvin intercepted a Warren Washburn pass and returned to the Plainsman 40. Ken Kuhn scored 5 plays later from one yard out and Dick Butolph added his second PAT with a placement.

Butolph To Irvin

Kuhn was the Kearney workhorse in the 3rd period which ended with neither team scoring a point. Kearney, however, scored on the first play of the final period on a 26-yard pass from southpaw quarterback Butolph to Irvin.

The final Antelope tally was set up when Harry Strohmeyer recovered a Wesleyan fumble on the Plainsman 20 yard line. Wayne Rudolph sneaked over from the one for the tally.

Wesleyan never seriously threatened. The Plainsmen reached the Kearney 20 late in the 4th quarter with Chuck Holt doing most of the damage. However the Kearney defense stiffened and took over on downs.

NU Resumes Underdog Role, Hopes For Upset

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Columbia, Mo. — Nebraska's Cornhuskers get a chance to live up to their reputation as apple-cart dumpers here today when they take on the Missouri Tigers in a Homecoming show expected to attract a record 43,000 fans.

In the past, Bill Jennings' Huskers have feasted on favorites and that's what Missouri is — by at least two touchdowns.

Dan Devine's Tigers are unbeaten this fall, with only a tie with California blotting their record, and technically are working on their second straight undefeated campaign.

Perfect Year

Mizzou won all but the Kansas game last year and had it served up later as a victory when the Big 8 dons reversed the decision.

Certainly the game has important conference implications for both clubs. Nebraska is still in the Big 8 race with a 1-1 record, but needs a victory to keep alive any title hopes.

Missouri is 2-0 and, with Colorado and Kansas both still to be met, cannot afford to stumble against the Cornhuskers.

Another Homecoming

It will be Nebraska's second of 3 straight Homecoming appearances and the Cornhuskers aren't planning on being as co-operative with the Tiger celebrants as they were at Oklahoma State last week when they passed up numerous scoring shots, let a bobbled punt turn the tide and then folded in the 4th quarter.

Today's contest matches the Tiger's offense, which specializes in power sweeps and balance, against the Nebraska attack that has featured Bill (Thunder) Thornton, No. 3 gainer in the loop and No. 8 in the nation.

Both lines are big and relatively mobile, with the Cornhuskers having a slight edge offensively, while the Tigers have thrown up a stout defense.

Nebraska is the second best offensive team in the Big 8, while Missouri is the No. 2 defensive club. So tough have the Tiger forwards been on defense that Iowa State and Oklahoma State were held to less than 40 yards on the ground.

The Cornhuskers, on the other hand, moved the ball considerably better against Oklahoma State than did the Tigers, even though they could score only once. Missouri had to use a field goal and a deflected pass interception to beat OSU, 10-0.

All things considered, Homecoming in Columbia adds up to Missouri (4-0-1) being a solid favorite over Nebraska (2-2-1), with the Cornhuskers counting on their old upset luck and an error-free performance to topple the dope bucket.

NU Shut Out

And anything the Scarlets do in the way of scoring will be a considerable improvement over the past 3 years. Nebraska has not even scored on Missouri, let alone beat the Tigers, since 1957 when the Huskers lost 14-13.

During Devine's regime, Mizzou has outscored Nebraska, 68-0. The Tigers won 31-0 in 1958, blanked NU 9-0 in 1959 and blitzed the Huskers, 28-0, last year.

It will be Nebraska's student migration trip — sans the band — so the Cornhuskers should have some rooters to counter Mizzou's old grads.

Bellevue Sinks Pius By 7-0

. . . CRAZY BOUNCE SPOILS VALIANT 'BOLT DEFENSE EFFORT

By TOM HUTSON
Star Sports Writer

An injury-riddled Pius X defense rose to stop Bellevue's score-hungry offense on all but one occasion when a quirk of fate aided the Chieftains to a 4th quarter touchdown to edge the Thunderbolts, 7-0, before a full house of Homecoming fans at Pius X Stadium Friday night.

The circumstance that helped Bellevue to its lone touchdown came in the closing minutes of the 3rd quarter, when the Pius defense forced the Chieftains to punt from their own 28.

The Bellevue punt traveled only 15 yards in the air then took a few high bounces before it struck a Pius back preparing to block down an onrushing Bellevue end.

Woody Dismuke, 6-5 Bellevue end, fell on the ball on the Pius 46 to start a goalward drive that the 'Bolt defenders could not halt.

John Dula, power-driving Bellevue fullback, carried 6 times on the drive eating up 41 of the 46 necessary yards and scoring from the 7 with 10:37 left in the game.

Dula also bulled his way in for the PAT.

Pius X tried gamely to come back in the remaining time, but Dale Champoux's fumble on a 4th and one situation at midfield cooled the 'Bolts hopes.

After two plays, bruising tackles by the left side of the Pius defensive line jarred the ball loose from Lance Armstrong to renew 'Bolt chances.

Their hopes were short-lived though as Bellevue froze the Pius offense, then added insult when Chieftain center Bill Hilburn blocked Pat Fitzpatrick's punt to put the Bolts down for good.

A first half Pius scoring opportunity went for naught when another short Bellevue kick went for only 12 yards, leaving Coach Vince Aldrich's lads in possession on the Bellevue 22.

Pass Batted Down

Seven running plays later, faced with a 4th and goal on the two-yard line, with the Bellevue line jammed full, the Thunderbolt quarterback tried a short pass, but lanky Dismuke knocked the aerial askant.

Statistics show a much wider Bellevue advantage than is indicated by the score, but the Pius defense fought valiantly and squelched the Chieftains on key plays.

The Thunderboldts, minus 7 injured players, conjured varied defenses, and put out everything they had to stop the powerful Bellevue ground machine.

Bellevue Tips Pius After Freak Break

was a patchwork affair, putting strength in the middle to stop Dula then shifting veterans to the outside to shut off sweeps by squirming Armstrong and Dan Jordan.

Penalties slowed the game with Bellevue losing 120 yards on red flags and Pius X inflicted with 55 yards from infractions.

The Pius offense totalled only 116 yards on the ground against 332 for Bellevue. Neither team found success in passing as a constant 25 mph wind discouraged the aerial game.

Particularly outstanding for the Pius defenders were Ladd Lonnquist, Dale Champoux, Tom McGovern and spunky defensive halfback Jim Sullivan who has just returned from the injured list.

Halftime Homecoming festivities saw Phyllis Houser crowned Queen and injured gridder Tom Donahue named Homecoming King.

Lady-in-waiting was Miss Jean Kezor and another injured footballer, Bob Cunningham was titled Earl of Homecoming.

The loss was the 4th in a row for Pius and Bellevue broke its 3 game losing streak in picking up the victory.

Husker Frosh Beaten, 18-0

(Cont. From Pg. 13)

Gary Krohn, end Bob Lockwood and halfback Willie Paschal — to move Nebraska in from midfield.

But he couldn't connect when the chips were down and Nebraska failed to score.

In the second half, NU got the Iowa State 29, 34, and 37, but gave up the ball on downs or pass interceptions each time.

Although first downs were even at 14 apiece, Iowa State outrushed Nebraska 321 yards to 138. The Huskers added 92 pass yards to I-State's 12, but 5 Cyclone interceptions made the edge worthless.

The bulk of the Cyclone yardage came around the Husker flanks. Nebraska's interior line—led by tackles Anthony Guillory and John Strohmyer and guards Duane Novak and Jerry Payne held its ground fairly well.

No Punch

But line or no line, the Huskers lacked the offensive punch and that, in so many words, was the story of the contest.

Nebraska closes out its brief season Nov. 10 at Kansas State.

The Wildcat yearlings lost 21-7 to Kansas in their opener as KU's Gayle Sayers, the Omaha boy who might have been a Husker, scored 3 touchdowns.

SAINTS WIN, 99-96

San Francisco (AP)—The San Francisco Saints, paced by former University of San Francisco star Mike Farmer, beat the Los Angeles Jets 99-96 Friday night in the inaugural game of the new American Basketball League before 5,137.

Player-coach Bill Sharman of the visiting Jets lodged a complaint late in the game, then made an official protest.

Farmer, a 6-foot 9-inch forward who formerly played for the Cincinnati Royals of the established National Basketball Association, paced the scorers with 26 points.

PACKERS HIT HAWKS

Chicago (AP)—Walt Bellamy jammed in 35 points in leading the Chicago Packers to a 117-106 victory over the St. Louis Hawks in the return of professional basketball to Chicago after an 11-year lapse.

The Packers scored their first National Basketball Association victory after two losses and led the Hawks all the way.

SNAGGER OF NO. 61 WILL MARRY SUNDAY

New York (AP)—Sal Durante, the young fan who caught Roger Maris' historic 61st home run, is getting married Sunday and Monday sets off on an expense-paid honeymoon trip to the West Coast.

The expenses will be paid by Sacramento, Calif., restaurant operator Sam Gordon, who has offered Sal $5,000 for the home run ball he speared in the right field stands at Yankee Stadium Oct. 1.

Maris is scheduled to be present at the ball-check exchange ceremony in Scaramento Nov. 4, and will receive the ball from Gordon.

Durante, 19-year-old former sandlot second baseman from Brooklyn, will marry Miss Rose Calabrese.

They plan to leave Monday for Sacramento "and maybe a side trip to Reno," Durante said.

Durante, who bought the tickets for the Yankees' last game of the season specifically with an eye toward catching a Maris homer, said early this month he and Miss Calabrese were "talking about getting married."

"We decided to a couple of weeks ago," he said. He said the $5,000 offer for the home run ball "may have helped" the young couple make their decision.

He is a driver and mechanic for an auto parts firm.

Sal also was offered and accepted tickets and expenses for the Seattle World's Fair. He said he will go next April.

Hornung To Hospital For 10 Day Checkup

. . . GREEN BAY FANS UNHAPPY WITH ARMY

Chicago (AP) — Star halfback Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers, originally tabbed for active Army duty next Monday, was directed Friday to take another physical examination requiring a 10-day hospital stay.

Headquarters of the 5th Army said in a statement that Hornung was ordered to report to the U.S. Navy hospital in Great Lakes, Ill., Monday "for examination and evaluation of his physical condition."

"It is expected that results of this evaluation will not be available for about 10 days," the statement added.

Hornung, 26, a bachelor, who previously was scheduled to report Monday for active duty at Ft. Riley, Kan., has had a pinched neck nerve which has sidelined him several occasions.

The Packers' top scorer in the National Football League, along with two other Green Bay stars, linebacker Ray Nitschke and flanker back Boyd Dowler, were recalled as Army reservists. Nitschke and Dowler were ordered to report Nov. 3.

The army summoning of 3 key performers on the powerful Green Bay team favored to recapture the NFL's Western Conference title provoked considerable protest among Wisconsin pro football fans.

Sen. Alexander Wiley, Thursday requested the defense department to consider deferments for the trio. Wiley said he was aware of the manpower need in the armed forces, but suggested there also was need to maintain high morale among civilians.

Wiley said he received many protests from irked Green Bay fans. He suggested deferment of the 3 until the regular NFL season ends Dec. 17. The NFL championship playoff, however, is scheduled Dec. 31 in the home city of the Western champion which could be Green Bay.

Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski, R-Wis., also jumped into the case Friday and took what was an obvious slap at Sen. Wiley, a fellow Republican, for Wiley's reported intervention on behalf of Hornung and Nitschke.

O'Konski said at his home at Mercer, Wis., that he had sent a telegram to the commanding general of the 14th U.S. Army Corps at Minneapolis stating that "to single out entertainment stars for deferment would demoralize the whole procedure."

Hornung underwent a preliminary examination Tuesday at the Milwaukee recruiting center and the 5th Army surgeon, reviewing results of that test, recommended the examination at Great Lakes Monday.

It was believed that Hornung will be able to play in Sunday's game against the Minnesota Vikings in Milwaukee and also, possibly, at Baltimore Nov. 5, provided the new examination has not been completed by that time.

MIRA BACK, LEADS HURRICANES, 10-0

Miami, Fla. (AP) — Miami's sensational sophomore quarterback, George Mira, returned to action Friday night and guided the Hurricanes to a 10-0 victory over North Carolina on a soggy football field.

Shackled by torn rib cartilage, Mira had sat out two losing Miami games. Friday night, he showed he had finally recovered his old skill as he threw a 40-yard touchdown pass to Larry Wilson in the last quarter.

A 30-yard field goal by Billy Wilson into the teeth of a 20-mile-an-hour wind had accounted for Miami's first 3 points in the second quarter.

Mira kept the Hurricanes on the move throughout the game and the score might have been considerably higher except for Miami mistakes.

An illegal procedure penalty halted one Hurricane march after Mira had passed 11 yards to Bill Miller on the North Carolina two. Another was killed by Jim Vollenweider's fumble when the Hurricanes were at the Tar Heel 5.

A squall struck the Orange Bowl before the game and it rained intermittently on 29,614 homecoming fans.

President Cup To Argentine In Jumpoff

Washington (AP) — Flushed with pride, 18-year old Carlos Damm Jr. of Argentina received the glittering President's Cup from Mrs. John F. Kennedy as the winner of a feature jumping event Friday night at the Washington International horse show.

"Absolutely superb," the first lady congratulated young Damm on his winning ride with Argentina's entry Sherriff in a jumpoff contest. In addition to the trophy, Damm won a $500 first prize.

The battle for the coveted cup, awarded for the first time, came down to a jumpoff between Sherriff and the United States' entry, San Lucas, ridden by Frank Chapot, 28, of Wallpack, N.J., who placed second.

President Kennedy himself joined his wife in the Presidential box at ringside for the first part of the competition before a standing room only audience of more than 6,000 spectators in the National Guard Armory.

Palmer Has Troubles In Aussie Golf Fray

Sydney, Australia (AP) — Arnold Palmer, generally rated the No. 1 golfer in the world, had a second bad round in the Australian Tournament at the Lakes Course Friday.

He shot a 4-over-par 76 for a two-round total of 156—his worst halfway score in a big 72-hole tournament in years.

Palmer is tied for 18th in a field of 36.

In the lead is 47-year-old Eric Cremin of Sydney with 72-71—143. Two strokes behind on 145 is the best known Australian, Peter Thomson, 74-71, and one stroke behind him is South African Gary Player at 146.

Waterfield Shakes Ram Lineup Up

Los Angeles (AP) — Coach Bob Waterfield Friday shook up the Los Angeles Rams in a move he hopes will bring victory over the Detroit Lions here Sunday.

Frank Ryan replaces Zeke Bratkowski as the starting quarterback.

Rookie Pervis Atkins will open at right, or slotback, instead of veteran Ollie Matson.

The defensive backfield unit will list Eddie Meador and rookie Al Hall as the corner backs and Clendon Thomas and Lindon Crow as the deep backs, with Charlie Britt held in reserve.

Charlie Cowan replaces Roy Hord at left guard on offense and George Strugar fills in at tackle for the injured John Lo Vetere on defense.

Waterfield said there was no criticism of players involved in the switches but he thought the club could stand "a little shaking up."

Fox A Question Mark For Future Baseball

Chambersburg, Pa. (AP) — Nellie Fox, plagued with a persistent soreness in the right arm, plans a physical checkup that may decide the future of his professional baseball career.

Fox plays second base for the Chicago White Sox and in 1959 was voted the Most Valuable Player in the American League. After an injury in spring training, his batting average last season slumped to .251.

Fox, who lives at nearby St. Thomas, told of his checkup plans at the annual dinner of the local Little League organization.

HADL GIVES SUPPORT TO CONTACT LENSES

. . . SEES AGAIN, KU BACK ON BEAM

By Associated Press

John Hadl, the big gun for Kansas whether he's playing quarterback or halfback, wears glasses off the football field.

No Need

During whirlwind sophomore and junior years, he never appeared to need them. But that's all changed now.

The Jayhawks opened this season in a night game against Texas Christian University. John found it hard to see and wondered if contact lenses might help.

Meanwhile, the Kansans, who had been expected to be an almost unstoppable powerhouse, were upset by TCU, tied by Wyoming and beaten by Colorado before scoring their first victory over Iowa State.

Flashes

In those 4 games, Hadl showed only flashes of the form that had made him one of the nation's top backs.

As a passer, he appeared to have lost his touch almost completely. He attempted 30 and completed only 10.

On Tuesday, Oct. 17, Hadl picked up a pair of contact lenses. He used them for the first time last Saturday in the game against Oklahoma.

'Amazing'

"I thought I could see," said John, "but it's amazing what I've been missing out there. I think it's definitely going to help my passing."

Then against Oklahoma, with the lenses in, Hadl completed 7 of 13 passes for 91 yards and one touchdown as Kansas won 10-0.

That victory kept the Jayhawks in the running for the Big 8 title and Hadl, with fine sight now, figures to keep them there.

Video Bout Pits Wright, Salim In 10

New York (AP) — Farid Salim, the Argentine middleweight boxing champion, makes his United States debut tonight at Madison Square Garden in a 10-round match with Teddy Wright of Detroit.

Farid comes to this country highly recommended with a 31-1-2 record to show for 34 fights. He won the Argentine title last year and successfully defended it once. This is the first trip out of South America for the 6-1 medical student who has impressed gym observers with his speed of hand.

Wright, 24, owns a 37-6-3 record that includes victories over Sugar Hart, Frederico Thompson and Don Fullmer. The Fullmer bout Aug. 12 was his last in the garden. It resulted in young Don's first knockout defeat.

The bout will be carried on network (ABC) television, starting at 8 p.m. (CST). Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case the rounds are even.

Salim, 25, lost only to Mario Tarzetti, a setback he avenged before he decided to come to this country. He has knocked out 14 opponents but considers himself more the boxer type.

Bear Gets Vote To Gobble Colt

. . . IT'S ON TEE VEE FOR ALL TO SEE

BARN DOOR SCORE
Farmer, don't you fret or howl
If your barn door's left ajar.
With hungry bruins on the prowl
That horse won't get too far.
—O. P.

By OLD PRO

Like Old Pro says, fans, the horse won't get too far.

For it's a fact that the Bruins are hungry and eager to chomp down anything that strays from the barn and into the forest.

And that's not the "forest of the night" as in "Tiger, Tiger, burning bright . . ."

This is plain daylight . . . in Baltimore . . . on TeeVee . . . Bears vs. Colts . . . Johnny Unitas, Lenny Moore . . . Willie Galimore, Billy Wade . . . ah, memories.

Old Pro, who picked the Bears from Chicago to beat the Colts (Baltimore) when they met two weeks ago, says the Bruins can do it again.

It's on TeeVee at 1 p.m. (Channels 6 and 10) and O.P. figures the Bears are hungry enough for one more win. The Horses, he says, are about ready for the glue factory.

For those fans who can't bear to watch, TeeVee Channel 3 has the San Francisco 49ers and Pittsburgh Steelers. Or Channel 7 has the American League New York Titans-Oakland Raiders.

Watching this weekend's games will be the U.S. Army. That outfit will get Paul Hornung, Boyd Dowler and Ray Nitschke of the Packers and Bobby Mitchell of the Browns after they take their showers Sunday.

Without them, says Old Pro, the NFL won't be the same, but it'll go on.

And so must O.P., who picks Sunday's frays like this:

National League

Bears over Colts—
Bear, if careful study made,
Is doing fine behind B. Wade.
Cardinals over Browns—
Hard-nosed Redbird defense crop
Make Mitchell's final game a flop.
Giants over Cowboys—
New York is host in Yankee palace,
And host is most when playing Dallas.
Rams over Lions—
King of beast, in quest for mutton,
Meets riled Ram and gets a buttin'.
Packers over Vikings—
Last game is fun for Packer aces
Who switch next week to Army bases.
Eagles over Redskins—
Skins hot bet for perfect year.
Defeat number 7 forecast here.
49ers over Steelers—
Shotgun needs a quick reload
Or San Fran boys out in cold.

American League

Titans over Raiders—
Titans strut out fancy dans
In bonus show for TeeVee fans.
Chargers over Broncos—
Broncos, who've won last two out,
This time take it on the snout.
Patriots over Texans—
Boston, famed for beans and tea,
Now has gridders makin' whoopee.
Oilers over Bills—
Oilers strike after wildcat start,
Tear willy-nilly Bills apart.

Charger Leader Kemp Exempt From Service

San Francisco (AP)—Jack Kemp, quarterback for the San Diego Chargers in the American Football League, isn't going into the Army.

The 6th Army received word Friday from the surgeon general in Washington that Kemp has been determined "temporarily disqualified medically." He will be re-examined in 6 months.

Kemp, whose play as one of the AFL's top passers has been one of the big reasons why the Chargers lead the Western Division, was injured last Sunday during the 41-10 Charger victory over the Oakland Raiders.

The 6-1, 200 pound signal caller was struck in the Adam's apple and also reinjured his left shoulder. Kemp has been wearing a special brace since he injured the shoulder earlier in the season.

Kemp, 25, a star during collegiate days for Occidental, last season was picked as the all-league quarterback.

Kemp took a physical examination Monday at Letterman Hospital in San Francisco, a Chargers official said. The examination was ordered after an earlier one also declared him physically disqualified because of a shoulder injury.

"Jack is very relieved," the official said in San Diego. Kemp will play Sunday against the Denver Broncos.

"Now we can concentrate on football," said coach Sid Gillman, who has lost tackle Ron Mix to the Army Reserve unit which Mix and Kemp belong to, and which was recently called to active duty.

BOSTON STOPS G. WASHINGTON

Washington (AP)—Boston University put together two mighty goal line stands and two touchdowns by sophomore halfback Joe Dipietro Friday night for a 20-6 football victory over George Washington.

Dipietro scored on a one-yard plunge and an 87-yard run after GW was stopped for the second time inside the 5-yard line. The 190-pound speedster had carried the ball only 3 times previously this year for a total gain of 29 yards.

Dick Drummond, GW's top threat, was stymied by the husky Boston defense. He gained only 29 yards in 11 carries.

Kenny Sears Injunction Is Lifted

San Francisco (AP)—Superior Judge Byron Arnold Friday denied a petition for a temporary injunction which would have prevented pro basketball star Kenny Sears from playing for the newly-organized San Francisco Saints.

The decision enabled the former New York Knickerbocker 6 foot 9 inch forward to go in Friday's opening game here between the Saints and the Los Angeles Jets—both members of the new American Basketball League.

The injunction had been asked by attorneys for Graham-Paige Corp., operators of the New York Knicks of the National Basketball Association. The petition contended that Sears, who played with the New York team for several years after starring at Santa Clara University, had jumped his contract when he signed with the Saints last March.

The New York club contended the Saints induced Sears to break his contract with them. The Saints said the suit was part of a National Basketball League "conspiracy to exclude new enterprises."

The next step in the litigation probably will deal directly with the actual Knickerbocker suit, attorneys said.

Game Violations Starting Early

Seventeen Nebraska sportsmen rushed into hunting season permitless, early, and at the wrong hours in recent days, prompting a variety of arrests by the State Game Commission.

The violations included hunters jumping seasons, shooting after hours, taking more than legal share of game, and out-of-state hunters using in-state permits.

WANT ADS are for EVERYBODY

I have often wondered how long the list would be if I were to take the time to sit down and list all the things a family needs to raise a healthy, happy family. And I'm afraid I'd shock myself if I totalled up the cost. One thing we are certain of is that we help keep the cost down by using the Journal-Star Want Ads. We read them when we need something and we advertise to sell things we no longer need. The kids have the Want Ad habit too, and while they get a kick out of watching the way people respond to our ads, at the same time they are learning a lesson worth remembering. Our family are firm believers in the saying "Want Ads are for Everybody."

Aero. Dept. Mute On Frontier

The State Aeronautics Department will take no stand in the case involving Frontier Airlines southern Nebraska route because the City of Lincoln refused to give its approval to a proposed solution.

"The State Aeronautics Commission directed me not to take sides on anything that does not have the unanimous support of the cities affected," Aeronautics Director James Sandstedt explained Friday.

But he added that his department will help the individual cities prepare evidence they want to present before a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing in Omaha, Nov. 8. In that one, Frontier is asking the CAB to let them drop their southern Nebraska service completely. The cities are fighting to keep it.

In clarifying his position, Sandstedt revealed that some cities have come with their own proposals, in which other cities would be left out entirely.

"I couldn't favor one city at the expense of another," he declared.

Frontier and the other Nebraska cities along its southern route from Omaha to Denver, Colo., had signed an agreement recently which would allow the airline to cut its two daily round trips in half.

Instead Frontier would provide a daily shuttle service back and forth between Omaha and Kearney and Omaha and Hastings.

For its part, Frontier agreed it would give the cities another 12 months to prove they could provide minimum passenger loads.

The CAB has set a "use it or lose it" criteria which requires cities to provide a minimum of 5 passengers a day over a period of time in order to retain regular flight service.

Most of the cities of the southern segment have not done so.

Others on the route are Imperial, McCook, and Sidney.

Instead of ratifying the proposed solution, the Lincoln city council asked the State Railway Commission to make a complete study of the Frontier Airline operation in Nebraska.

This agreement would have no affect on the situation anyway unless approved by the Railway Commission. But the commission has not been asked to do so as yet.

There is, however, the CAB hearing in Omaha, where Frontier's application to get out of the route altogether will be heard.

As things stand now, according to Sandstedt, the Aeronautics Department will take no stand at the Omaha hearing because of the Lincoln decision.

Hastings Man, 4 Others, Are Hurt In Crash

A Hastings airman, on home leave from Chanute AFB, Ill., was in serious condition at Veterans' Hospital Friday night with injuries suffered in a two-car collision near Dorchester.

Timothy J. Kleinjan, 18, was treated for a concussion and a fractured jaw.

Four other persons injured in the collision were taken to Crete Hospital where they are listed as satisfactory. They are: Willard F. Hurdle, 39, of Ragan; Ronald G. Pittman, 18; Francis Emmerich, 18; and Thomas W. au Buchon, 18; all of Hastings.

Safety Patrolman James Kontos said one vehicle, being driven east by Hurdle on highway 6, was in collision with a second car, being driven west by Pittman, at the junction of highways 6 and 15.

The officer reported that Emmerich, au Buchon, and Kleinjan were passengers in the Pittman car. Both cars were a total loss.

Pavlov Named

Moscow (AP) — The former Soviet ambassador to Belgium and France, Aleksey Pavlov, has been named Moscow's permanent representative to the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) in Paris, Tass news agency announced.

Ailing Marshal Voroshilov Forgiven By Khrushchev

Moscow (AP)—Ageing, ailing Marshal Klementi Y. Voroshilov, former president of the Soviet Union, was publicly forgiven Friday by Premier Khrushchev for his part in the 1957 Communist Party struggle that followed Khrushchev's first denunciation of Stalin.

Voroshilov

"I believe he sincerely condemns his acts and that he repents," Khrushchev told the delegates to the 22nd party congress. "I believe Klementi Yefremovich (Voroshilov) will fight actively with us for our party and our cause."

This climaxed a long section of Khrushchev's windup speech dealing with the Stalinist "cult of personality" (a euphemism for one-man rule) and the repressive methods accompanying it. But Khrushchev had no forgiveness for the other antiparty leaders—nor for a whole nation he considers antiparty—Albania.

The premier said Albania had failed to follow his line of relaxation and the Albanian leaders "maintain their power by resorting to force and arbitrary methods."

Noting that Albania was the only communist nation not to publish the new party program—"They are scared stiff of the truth"—Khrushchev appealed to communist China to intervene in the dispute. Peiping has befriended Albania in following a hard line toward the West, and Khrushchev said the Chinese should help Albania re-establish friendship with Moscow.

Committee To Pick New Dean

A five-man advisory committee to Chancellor C. M. Hardin for the selection of a new dean of student affairs at the University of Nebraska upon the retirement of Dean J. P. Colbert next July 1, 1962, was announced Friday.

Under the chairmanship of Dr. A. C. Breckenridge, dean of faculties, the members of the committee are: Lyle E. Young, associate professor of engineering mechanics; Dr. E. Roger Washburn, chairman of the department of chemistry; Mrs. Marion Nickerson, assistant professor of business teacher education; and Dr. Lavon J. Sumption, assistant professor of animal husbandry.

Professor Young is also a member of the self-survey committee which is re-examining the entire area of student services and student affairs. Dean Breckenridge is also chairman of this committee.

Professors Washburn, Nickerson, and Sumption were recommended to the newly named advisory committee by the University Senate's liaison committee.

Dean Breckenridge said that after an organizational meeting within the next few weeks, a procedure will be outlined in the search for a new dean. He said the committee expected later to solicit views of students and nominations and suggestions from members of the University.

Dean Colbert, who has served as dean since 1952, must retire as dean of student affairs next summer because of the administrative age limit of 65. He may remain on the faculty as professor of civil engineering.

MILLIONAIRE JOHN CRAM, WHO BEFRIENDED ADDICTS, FREED

New York (AP) — John S. Cram, a millionaire devoted to helping dope addicts and the downtrodden, was freed Friday of troubles brought on by his good deeds.

He was acquitted in Felony Court of maintaining a hangout for narcotics users and of illegally possessing hypodermic needles.

Witnesses testified Cram's character and conduct were of the highest. A minister said his reputation was "very high, one which we all could emulate." His attorney dscribed him as a modern St. Francis of Assisi.

As for the hypodermic needles, his doctor testified these were used by Cram for adrenal gland injections to combat an ailment suffered by him and not for the injection of narcotics.

Cram, 51, is a great-grandson of Edward Cooper, one-time mayor of New York, and a graduate of Princeton and Oxford Universities. He is worth more than $1 million from securities he holds and inheritances due him.

—'Conspired Against Ratterman'—

Grand Jury Indicts 6 In Newport Case

Lexington, Ky. (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted the Newport police chief, two detectives and 3 other men Friday on charges they conspired to frame George Ratterman, a candidate for sheriff in that gambling-ridden town.

The indictments, alleging violation of Ratterman's civil rights by conspiring to arrest him in a hotel room with a woman, were announced by the Justice Department in Washington, then announced here a half-hour later. The grand jury is meeting here.

They named Upshere White, 49, who took over as Newport police chief Oct. 1 from the retired George Gugel; Newport detectives Patrick Ciafardini, 39, and Joseph Quitter, 43; Charles E. Lester, a Fort Thomas, Ky. lawyer; Tito Carinci, 32, president of the corporation owning the Tropicana Night Club in Newport; and Edward Anthony Buccieri, 39, Cold Spring, Ky., a night club operator.

Reconvened

The jury reconvened Friday after nearly a 3-month recess. It acted after hearing testimony from Ratterman, a one-time college and professional football player; and from April Flowers, a strip tease dancer who was arrested in a Newport hotel room with Ratterman last May 9.

Ratterman claimed he was drugged and framed, and misdemeanor charges against him later were dropped. A prostitution charge against Miss Flowers, whose real name is Juanita Jean Hodges of Houston, Tex., is pending.

Ratterman, a 35-year-old businessman and father of 8, is running for sheriff of Campbell County, which includes Newport, in the Nov. 7 election. He is backed by a group seeking to clean up the town, a gambling haven for half a century.

Arrested Ratterman

Ciafardini was the man who arrested Ratterman. Quitter and White, who was a detective at the time, also were on the call.

The arrest took place in Carcini's room. His night club is on the ground floor of the hotel. Buccieri was a co-owner of the Tropicana and of the hotel.

The charges against Ratterman were dropped after a professional photographer testified he received a phone call from a man identifying himself as Lester asking that pictures be taken of a man and woman in a hotel. The photographer refused.

White and Ciafardini also are under indictment, along with Newport Mayor Ralph Mussman, 3 Newport city commissioners and several other police officers on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice. These indictments were returned last month by the Campbell county grand jury.

Friday's indictments came only 3 days after Miss Flowers was quoted as having changed her story about events surrounding the Ratterman arrest. The Louisville Courier-Journal said she now says Ratterman did not have his pants off and that he did not embrace her. She testified earlier that he did. She also says now, the newspaper said, that he was unconscious the entire time.

High Court Affirms Sentence In Automobile Homicide Case

The State Supreme Court Friday affirmed a Madison County District Court Decision which sentenced Ronald Henn of Madison County to a one-year term in the State Reformatory on a motor-vehicle homicide charge.

Henn was charged following a two-car collision Oct. 31, 1959, on U.S. highway 81 south of Norfolk and near the entrance of Ta-Ha-Zouka Park, in which Stanton County residents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bahm, were killed

The car in which the deceased were riding was found two hours after the accident submerged in a lagoon. Henn testified at the time that he did not know what his car had struck.

Henn appealed the District Court decision, saying that the evidence against him was largely circumstantial.

The high court ruled, however, that the evidence in the case is sufficient to sustain the findings of the trial court that Henn drove his automobile at an excessive rate of speed into the rear of the car of the deceased.

In other rulings, the Supreme Court:

Affirmed a Lancaster County District Court ruling against payment of damages for injuries suffered by Inez Hutsell in a fall at Eden's School of Hairdressing.

Reversed and remanded with directions of a Cass County District Court decision which favored Harold Buick in a suit he filed against W. E. and Elmer L. Stoehr resulting from a collision on Sept. 5, 1959.

Reversed and remanded a decision by Fillmore County District Court in a suit involving the York County Public Power District and Ralph E. and Paul O'Connor in which the district sought to establish validity and propriety of a rate charged for electrical service and to restrain the O'Connor's from interfering with the installation of a meter in order to ascertain the correct rate to be charged.

Affirmed Cass County District Court denial of a habeas corpus asked in a forcible rape case by Melvin Wilson of Plattsmouth.

Affirmed Cedar County District Court decision which denied workmen's compensation to Emil A. Bame Jr., a Cedar County resident.

Affirmed Nebraska Workmen's Compensation Court and Gage County District Court decision against Edna Acton of Wymore, a cook for Wymore School District 114, which ruled that an injury sustained by a employe while he is going to and from his work does not arise in the course of his employment unless it occurs on the property of the employer.

More Yanks Will Be Sent To Europe

London (AP)—U.S. and British defense officials agreed Friday to press for more West German help to sustain their military forces in Europe.

U.S. Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatric and British Defense Minister Harold Watkinson agreed in all-day talks that the Soviet Union must be given no cause to miscalculate Western firmness on Berlin and Germany.

Informants said Gilpatric told Watkinson the United States intends to send more than 50,000 additional troops to Europe by January.

The informants said the two men swapped assurances designed to boost confidence in each other's defense policies. With their advisers, the two also outlined measures to speed co-operative allied research and development of several new secret weapon systems, the informed sources said.

JURY FINDS:

Scarbeck Is Guilty

. . . In Espionage Case

Washington (AP) — Standing erect and stony-faced, former diplomat Irvin C. Scarbeck Friday heard a jury pronounce him guilty of revealing embassy secrets to Polish communist agents.

The jury reached its verdict half an hour after starting its third day of deliberations, spending a total of 15½ hours in the jury room.

Scarbeck, 41, a short, broad-shouldered man with a tall shock of wavy, graying hair, showed no emotion as each juror was polled and answered "guilty" to 3 of the 4 counts involved.

So ended the 3½ week trial that disclosed intimate details of Scarbeck's love life, his involvement with blackmailing Polish secret police, and his submission to their demands for secret information from the Warsaw Embassy where he was second secretary.

Innocent On Fourth

Scarbeck was convicted on the first 3 counts of the indictment, charging that he revealed classified documents to agents of a foreign power. He was found innocent on a fourth count involving the physical removal of one document from the embassy.

The maximum penalty on the first 3 counts is 30 years in prison and a $30,000 fine. In practice, the 3 terms probably would be served concurrently, so the most he is likely to get is 10 years.

Federal Judge Leonard P. Walsh said a date for sentencing would be set after a pre-sentence probation report is prepared.

Defense lawyer Samuel C. Klein said he would appeal the decision to a higher court.

Concerned About Wife

Klein said Scarbeck was "very much concerned about his wife and 3 children." Scarbeck's second wife, Karen, 37, stood by her husband throughout the trial, listening impassively to lurid testimony about Scarbeck's love affair with a 22-year-old Polish girl, Urusula Maria Discher.

During the trial Klein did not deny that Scarbeck had dealings with agents of the U. B., the Polish secret Intelligence agency. But he contended that Scarbeck acted only out of altruistic motives, to protect Miss Discher from reprisal and to avoid disgracing his family.

5th Army Area 'Honest John' Usage Unlikely

Des Moines (UPI) — The Army has no plans at present to assign any nuclear, capable Honest John rockets to National Guard units in the 5th Army area, which includes the 34th Infantry Division, Iowa-Nebraska National Guard.

A 5th Army spokesman said Friday that Army artillery units which are set up to eventually use the ground-to-ground missiles will probably be sent to Camp Carson, Colo., within the next year for training on the weapons. They may possibly fire the rockets, using non-nuclear warheads, the spokesman said.

The 5th Army presently has no rockets.

Under the present organizational setup, only one battery in the 34th division has been designated an Honest John unit. It is "B" battery at Jefferson, one of the 4th rocket-Howitzer Battalion, 185th Artillery, headquartered at Boone, Ia. The battery now uses 8 inch Howitzers.

The forecast came at the annual 5th Army conference here, which closed Friday.

Russia Sets Off 25th A-Explosion

Washington (AP) — Russia set off another nuclear blast at its Arctic testing station Friday, the Atomic Energy Commission announced.

It was the 25th announced by the commission since the Russians resumed testing Sept. 1. Others are reported to have been detected but not announced.

The newest explosion, the Novaya Zemlya Arctic testing area, was "in the low to intermediate yield range," the AEC said. That would indicate a blast force equivalent to between 20,000 and 500,000 tons of TNT.

Grocery Industry Acting To Eliminate All Abuses

Washington (AP) — A grocery industry spokesman assured congress Friday the industry is acting to eliminate food packaging and labeling abuses as a result of a Senate subcommittee's airing of housewives' complaints.

Saying no new laws are needed, Paul S. Willis of New York, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, said at least 9 federal agencies already are policing his industry.

At the conclusion of a new round of hearings on the question, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, said he was glad to hear that the industry was taking action.

Doubt Expressed

Hart, who presided at the hearings, later expressed doubt to reporters whether this was enough. He questioned whether it was not too big an industry to expect all members to agree on where weight figures should be placed on packages, the size of type to be used and other practices.

Willis told Hart the Senate hearings had "alerted management to review their labels and packages, and we are sure management will take prompt action to make any necessary corrections."

He said his organization had written to its more than 300 members when the subcommittee's hearings started in June urging a careful review of packaging and labeling practices.

"Some manufacturers," he said, "were surprised to find that some changes had been made unknown to top management, and these are being corrected."

The subcommittee has been urging that grocers put more accurate and more easily read information on packages.

Robert S. Dickens, a Chicago package designer, said there is a limit to what should be required on a package because "experience has shown us that women will not take the time to read all these details."

Dickens, national president of the Package Designers Council, said women clamor for more convenient package openings, pouring spouts and other devices. Yet, he said, after a manufacturer has spent a fortune trying to satisfy them and spent days reducing instructions to utter simplicity the housewife "will probably use her standard opener — the kitchen knife."

Demo, GOP Chairmen Renew Secrecy Battle

Washington (AP) — The Republican and Democratic national chairmen hurled fresh verbal barbs at one another Friday in their running argument over charges and counter-charges of White House secrecy.

Republican Chairman William E. Miller challenged Democratic Chairman John M. Bailey to debate the Kennedy administration's information policies before any recognized journalistic group.

Bailey replied that he would be happy to accept — but only after Miller turns his debate promoting talents to the governor races in California and New Jersey.

It was a follow-up to an exchange between the two in Editor & Publisher, a newspaper trade journal.

Miller early this month wrote that the Kennedy administration was guilty of censorship, favoritism and attempting to use reporters as "political propaganda conduits."

Bailey replied this week that while "secrecy grew rather than diminished" under the Eisenhower administration the Democrats under President Kennedy have made "solid and significant" progress toward greater freedom of information.

Friday, Miller said: "my charge that the Democrats are running a censor-huckster operation at the highest level still stands." He said Bailey had "carefully avoided the fact that the most damaging charges I presented to Editor & Publisher were directly quoted from respected newspapers and magazines which had been shut off from facts."

Bailey replied:

"If Mr. Miller wants to exercise his talents as a debate promoter, I suggest he turn his talents to New Jersey where the Republican candidate for governor (James P. Mitchell) is ducking face-to-face confrontation of his opponent (Richard J. Hughes) on advice of Mr. Miller.

"After Mr. Miller finishes with the New Jersey debate, he might turn his attention to California, where a debate between Mr. Nixon and Mr. Knight would contribute greatly to public enlightment."

This referred to former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, both Republicans.

Mrs. Johnson Set To Party In New Home

Washington (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, wife of the vice president, is now ready to start social life in the big home that once belonged to party giver Perle Mesta. But she has no intention of vying for the title "hostest with the mostest."

"I'll leave that to Perle," Mrs. Johnson told reporters Friday as she took them on a tour of the 12-room mansion that retains the French style—with a dash of Texas.

When Mrs. Mesta owned it, the house was named "Les Ormes" after the two giant elms that flank the front door.

It's now just plain "The Elms." Mrs. Johnson explains "I felt ever so slightly put on when I came through the gates" with the name carved there in French.

The Johnsons' stately and elegant new home, purchased from Mrs. Mesta last May, along with many of her French furnishings of the Louis XV period, is located in Spring Valley, an exclusive section of Northwest Washington.

Mrs. Johnson will do her first formal entertaining Saturday when she invites 32 of the Senate wives Red Cross group to luncheon.

Khrush Reaffirms His Tough Stand

. . . Accuses West Of Threatening War

By PRESTON GROVER

Moscow (AP) — Premier Khrushchev accused the Western powers Friday of threatening war over Berlin even though, he said, the Soviet nuclear weapons arsenal is stronger than the American.

Insisting he wants only peace, however, the premier told the 22nd Soviet Communist Party Congress the Soviet Union would never try to dictate its will to other nations.

He reiterated he would not insist on a Dec. 31 deadline for a showdown on Berlin. But he warned a German settlement cannot wait indefinitely and the West must show willingness to negotiate. He gave no hint of yielding on Soviet positions.

Twits Kennedy

President Kennedy was pictured as "faced with the arduous task" of overhauling the Soviet Union in the field of nuclear weapons.

The Soviet Union was forced to resume nuclear tests "in the face of direct threats and the danger of a war," the premier asserted. He said Soviet scientists were doing everything to reduce the harmful after-effects of the tests.

The Western powers "threaten not only to contaminate the atmosphere, but to take the lives of millions of people," the premier charged.

Referring to Western protest against East German controls over Allied traffic in East Berlin, the premier said the Western powers "want us to insure, like traffic police, the transportation to West Berlin of their military freight, spies and saboteurs."

"Who do these gentlemen take us for?" he asked. "Do they actually believe that they can do anything they want and that they can make us act against our vital interests, against the interests of world peace and security?"

Boasts Of Strength

In a wide-ranging address, ending two weeks of speechmaking before the party congress, Khrushchev also declared the Soviet economy was so strong "that from the heights we have reached we can now challenge the most powerful capitalist country, the United States of America, to a peaceful economic competition."

In the bitter ideological feuding, he suggested that Red China could work to bring back Albania to party unity, but assailed the Albanians again for Stalinism. Albania hews to Peiping's line and was defended before the congress by Premier Chou En-lai of Red China, who quit the congress early and went home.

U Nu To Pakistan

90-Bushel Corn Pleases Growers In Richardson Co.

Falls City (UPI)—Richardson County is raising one of the greatest corn crops in its history this year.

Crop experts said corn harvests in 4 fertilized test plots scattered over the county has confirmed the belief.

Two of the two-acre plots produced yields of 99 and 96 bushels to the acre and the other two yielded 81 and 71 bushels to the acre. One of the non-fertilized check strips yielded 93 bushels to the acre.

Results in 3 of the 4 test plots showed spectacular boosts in yields, officials said.

The projects are part of a year-long intensified soil fertility program in the county.

'Mansion Meets Of Department Heads Beneficial'

Meetings of state department heads hosted by Gov. Frank Morrison at the Governor's Mansion to discuss mutual problems of state business are proving beneficial to all concerned, Norman Otto commented Friday.

Otto, administrative assistant to Morrison, said the second such dinner meeting was held this week and that Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the Budget Committee, was invited to confer with department officials on budget matters.

The meetings are helpful in "ironing out problems common to all of us, and in creating a better understanding to promote more efficient state government," Otto said.

WANTED:
Several ladies who are interested in travel. A background of personal travel would be helpful, but not absolutely essential—to help us organize, sell or conduct an expanded operation of tours to Hawaii—The Ozarks—Nebraska and the Badlands —New York, etc.
We also want to develop a list of 10 or 12 ladies, faculty wives for example, who love Lincoln and its tourist attractions as we do—to serve as driver-guides on daily sightseeing tours which we hope to offer soon.

Lack Of 'Water Rights' Determination Could Affect Lincoln

The problem of water rights for cities was the chief topic of discussion before the Legislative Council Water Control Committee Friday afternoon, following a morning session at which agricultural interests had aired their water problems.

E. H. Geig, general counsel for Metropolitan Utilities District of Omaha, told the committee he was going to file an application for water rights with the state before MUD proceeds further with its plans to build a $30 million water plant on the Platte River.

He noted that Lincoln had filed an application for water rights on the Platte in 1948 and that nothing has been done on it because the state has no machinery for determining underground water rights for cities.

"I was amazed to learn that Lincoln has no water rights, yet it's pumping 55 million gallons a day from the Platte," Geig said.

"If water were taken upstream for irrigation purposes, Lincoln wouldn't have enough water for drinking, cooking, sanitation purposes, firefighting or all the other uses cities have," he continued.

Wants Determination

Before MUD continues its expansion plans, it wants a determination of its water rights,. and a more specific definition of domestic use of water.

The constitution now provides that domestic use shall have first priority on surface water, agricultural purposes have second claim, and industrial uses are last.

It was noted, however, that cities pump all their water through one line — used both domestically and industrially.

Lincoln City Attorney Ralph Nelson told the committee that the Capital City, with one-tenth of the state's population, and the responsibility of providing water for many state institutions, has no priority rights.

Like Omaha, Lincoln has not experienced a real water shortage, but the continuing population boom of both metropolitan areas makes it urgent that the cities plan ahead for the day when shortages could occur.

Nelson also reminded the committee that Lincoln does not have access to the Missouri River, as Omaha does.

Lincoln Public Works Director D. L. Erickson told the committee that Lincoln has a 60 million gallon daily supply available from its Ashland station, and 12 million from local wells.

If Lincoln did not have access to the Platte water at Ashland, it could not meet its needs locally for more than a very short time.

Step-Up Urged

Earlier, the Nebraska State Irrigation Association urged the committee to recommend a stepped-up study and necessary legislative appropriations to halt the depletion of the state's ground water supply.

This was one of several recommendations presented by Cyril Shaughnessy, chairman of the association's legislative committee, and James C. Adams, president.

Others included a request for corrective legislation regarding who has the right to water in irrigation ditches and man-made streams, and the jurisdiction of the Water Resources Department over such water.

Strong opposition was expressed to any change in agricultural water use priority.

The problem of indiscriminate discharge of chemicals in water also was discussed, and the committee decided to invite State Health Director Dr. E. A. Rogers and Sanitation Chief T. A. Filipi to its next meeting to discuss the problem further.

Attorney General Clarence Meyer also will be invited to answer questions on the state's present water laws.

The committee voted to hold two public hearings at which all interested persons will have an opportunity to express their views on the state's water problems.

One of the public hearings will be held in Lincoln, and the other outstate, probably at North Platte. Both will be held after the first of the year.

Mrs. Nebraska Finalists Told

Omaha (UPI) — Finalists in the Mrs. Nebraska contest are competing for a chance to participate in the Mrs. America competition at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The winner will be announced Saturday.

The 6 finalists in the state contest are Mrs. Hubert W. McManus, Mrs. Norman D. Moyer, and Mrs. Kenneth Krebs, all of Omaha; Mrs. Richard Adams and Mrs. Winston Hall, both of Lincoln, and Mrs. Robert Sellon, Randolph.

The national contest will be staged Nov. 27-Dec. 9 at Fort Lauderdale.

Police Save Rare Spoonbills From Blasts Of Saturn

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)— Security police cars, sirens wailing, raced around the Saturn launch area Friday to frighten 21 rare birds out of the area to protect them from possible blast effects.

A pond near the Saturn pad is a favorite nesting place for the Roseate Spoonbills, a pink Heron-like creature.

The local Auduborn Society had asked the National Aeronautics and Space Administration for help in saving the birds from Saturn. The police cars were called in, and were reported successful in flushing the 21 birds.
